Another Wally?

The American influence is strong again in the newest king-and-the-commoner romance. The beautiful Countess Geraldine Apponyi (whose mother was Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York before she married Count Julius Nagyi-Apponyi) and King Zog, first royal ruler of Albania, will follow the royal road to romance blazed by a certain American woman and another king. They will wed at the end of April.

NEW CRISIS LOOMS IN EUROPE

Japanese Planes Bombard Canton

PRO-NIPPON UPRISING IN CITY FEARED

CANTON, China, Feb. 4.—(UP)—(By Telephone to Hongkong)—Martial law was proclaimed today as this great metropolis of South China was subjected to mass air raids by 30 or more Japanese airplanes.

The city was in a panic over reports that a pro-Japanese uprising was planned. Troops exercised iron control over the thousands of Cantonese who ventured forth into the streets between raids. The clatter of anti-aircraft fire coincided with the sporadic booming of bombs dropped in the outskirts.

Ships Shell Forts

The air raids were accompanied by an attack of Japanese warships on the Bocca Tigris forts defending Canton at the mouth of the river. Foreign shipping was ordered to leave the river and seek safety in the lower bay towards Hongkong, beyond the protective boom erected by the Chinese.

The steamer Shing Cheong, which tried to get out, was too late

F. H. A. CHANGES SIGNED BY FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The White House today announced that President Roosevelt has signed amendments to the federal housing act designed to spur a projected $2,000,000,000 building boom.

Mr. Roosevelt signed the housing amendments yesterday, the White House said, during a day spent in his White House quarters concentrating on business which has piled up on his desk during the past fortnight.

Compromise Farm

The housing amendments, sponsored by Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., were passed by the house and senate during the special session of congress last fall. Due to differences between the house and senate measures, the bill was sent to conference and only finally approved in compromise form this week.

The measure affords more liberal mortgage and insurance provisions than present FHA requirements. As finally approved, a provision that wages prevailing in communities where work was done under the bill should be paid on FHA projects was removed after bitter senate debate. The provision was sponsored by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, R., Mass., and supported by the American Federation of Labor.

FUGITIVE BANDIT IS SOUGHT IN ARIZONA

FLORENCE, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Arizona peace officers today hunted Earl Nelson, 34, daring bank robber, believed fleeing to Oklahoma after escaping from the state penitentiary here.

Nelson, serving 30 to 40 years for a $35,000 bank holdup in Clarkdale Oct. 4, 1928, in which his accomplice was killed, escaped late yesterday by hiding in a garbage can on a truck.

Warden A. J. Barnes, recalling Nelson's sister from Oklahoma visited him in his cell Sunday, said he believed the convict might be headed toward Oklahoma.

"However, there's no telling which way he went," the warden said.

Nelson's escape was discovered at the regular night roll call at 8 p. m. last night. It was the third time he has fled the prison. Nelson's was the first escape from the prison yard since Barnes became warden in January, 1937.

ROOTER VICTOR IN "RED NAIL" FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The case of the red fingernail polish was officially ended today when Principal James E. Addicott of Polytechnic high school posted $750 awarded by superior court to Mrs. Alta Moore, who sued Addicott on grounds he ejected her from a football game because her fingernails were painted the wrong color of red.

Mrs. Moore was awarded the $750 for injuries and illness that followed her ejection from the rooting section. She charged Addicott removed her because her "slaughterhouse red" fingernails antagonized the Polytechnic rooters.

FOREIGN NEWSPAPER BARRED IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—(UP)—News dealers reported that all newspapers coming from France were confiscated today, including the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune, and that the Daily Telegraph and News Chronicle of London were confiscated also.

Secret police, who usually upon request give the reason for such confiscations, would not admit today's seizures had anything to do with the retirement of Marshal Werner Von Blomberg as war minister. They merely said: "Nothing is known of the confiscations."

The feeling among well informed persons today was that the likelihood was increasing that Col. Gen. Wilhelm Goering, air minister and four year plan director, might assume a position of considerable power in the army even if he did not become war minister.

Russian Explorers Are Reported Safe

MOSCOW, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Four Russian scientists, drifting on an ice floe east of Greenland, radioed today that all was well and that their situation was improved.

The position of the party was 74.3 north latitude, 17:30 west longitude

Police Jail Attacker Of Two Women

Following a terrifying experience in which two young women narrowly escaped death or mutilation at 3 a. m. today, Thomas Jesko, 32, of 806 West Central avenue, Balboa, was arrested on a charge of attempting to commit a felony morals offense.

Later he may be charged with assault with intent to commit murder, according to Sheriff Logan Jackson. He admitted being their escort to and from Anaheim but denied any attempted attack.

Returning from Anaheim with a gallon of gasoline for their stalled automobile on 101 highway, near Duck Inn, and accompanied by their asserted would-be attacker,

ORANGE MAYOR HURLS CHARGES

Charged in an Orange justice court complaint with petty theft of $7.80 in gasoline from the city, Mayor A. Croxton Boice, of Orange, today denied his guilt, branded the charge as a political conspiracy, and promised to "deal with the authors in due time."

Rumors and conferences concerning the Orange mayor's reported activities came finally to a head late yesterday when Lewis Evans, 328 North Glassell street, Orange, signed a formal complaint in Orange justice court, and a warrant was issued by Justice Cal D. Lester.

Answers Charges

Mayor Boice, however, learned the complaint had been issued, and did not wait for the warrant to be served, but immediately appeared to answer the charge. The time for receiving his plea was set for February 8, and the mayor remained at liberty on his own recognizance.

Evans' complaint, which precipitated a sensation in Orange, charged specifically the theft of 12 gallons of gasoline September 21 last, the value being $1.44; a similar amount on September 11; 10 gallons worth $1.20, on October 28; 11 gallons, worth $1.32 on November 26; 12 gallons, worth $1.44, on December 16; 8 gallons, worth 96 cents, on December 28.

Dodges Questions

FALSE TELEGRAMS LAND MAN IN JAIL

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Ennis Hales, 43, Long Beach, Cal. mechanic, was held in jail under $500 bond today awaiting superior court trial on charges of telegraphing false messages in an alleged effort to collect damages from the city of Phoenix.

Assistant City Attorney Richard F. Harless said the messages were sent Jan. 14 about three hours before Hales actually was hurt in a fall from a municipal street car.

Hales assertedly telegraphed a falsely signed message to Bert English, Long Beach, asking him to advise Mrs. Olfa Hales that her husband had been "seriously injured in an accident." A similar message was sent to Mrs. Alva Hales, Huntington Park, Cal., saying "Your husband was injured in an accident," it was charged.

GOAT SCORES BULL'S EYE; WRECKS STORE

Earl Hulett's goat, Toughy, was the cause.

Toughy walked down the street until he came to the grocery. Facing the window, the goat saw what he thought was another goat. The other goat apparently infuriated him by repeating his every motion.

Toughy charged, his head lowered.

Death Took a Holiday In Their Behalf

Jubilant over their narrow escape and carrying the few belongings permitted them while they were sitting in jail awaiting the action of a firing-squad, 41 Spanish Loyalist fighters march to freedom across the French frontier. This was the first time the contending forces in Spain agreed to an exchange of prisoners. Forty-one Rebel officers were taken to Cerbere by the Republican government and there saw their lives bartered for those of Loyalists captured by Franco's forces.

Navy Chief Dodges Questions On Possibility Of Pact With England

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, today refused to answer a specific question as to possible agreement for naval cooperation between the United States and Great Britain on the ground that "it is absolutely secret and vital to the interests and defense of this country."

Leahy made his refusal in response to a question by Rep. Ralph E. Church, R., Ill., who asked if there were any plans regarding naval policy between the United States and Great Britain.

"Absolutely Secret"

"I will make no statement in this connection in public hearings," Leahy replied. "However, I will make frank statements in private sessions, of course on the basis that it is absolutely secret and vital to the interests and defense of this country."

Leahy then refused to say whether

SIMONE SIMON SERIOUSLY ILL

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Simone Simon, the little French film star who was stricken yesterday with bronchial pneumonia, was considered improved today, hospital attendants reported.

Physicians described her condition as "fair." They said she spent a comfortable night and that her temperature had dropped considerably.

Stricken in October

Miss Simon, dimpled French star, collapsed last October on a

6 Reappointed To State Fair Board

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Six members of the California state fair board of directors held reappointment today from Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

Those renamed and the expiration dates of their terms are:

A. B. Miller, Fontana, president; Alfred B. Lang, Stockton, and W. A. Kennedy, Pomona, all Feb. 1, 1939; T. H. Ramsey, Red Bluff; John McNaughton, Los Angeles and Harold J. McCurry, Sacramento, all Feb. 1, 1942.

Merriam also reappointed Captain B. G. Kane, San Francisco, to the board of pilot commissioners for San Francisco, San Pedro and Suisun bays for a term ending Feb. 3, 1942.

BOMB RUINS PRESS OFFICE IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—(UP)—A hand grenade of military type was thrown into a hallway outside the United Press offices today.

Exploding, it shattered doors in the hallway, blasted a hole a foot square in the wall and spattered the hall ceiling with bomb fragments. A Chinese messenger in the office was not injured.

The motive for the bombing was not known. It was noticed afterward that the initials "UP" had been pencilled on the office door, hitherto unmarked.

According to the Los Angeles weather bureau, rains are due tonight and Saturday, with clearing Saturday. Temperatures are predicted lower tonight with moderate winds.

PACKARD REDUCES PRICES

DETROIT, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Packard Motor Car company today announced a $100 reduction in prices of all its six-cylinder models.

Dollar Day To Attract Thousands

Santa Ana merchants today were ready to greet the thousands of Orange county shoppers who will be their guests tomorrow for the Semi-Annual Dollar Day sales event sponsored by the Retail Division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Through co-operation of the Santa Ana police and The Register, parking courtesies will be extended to out-of-town visitors while in Santa Ana for the big shopping event.

Unlimited Parking

Coupons printed in The Register today are to be pasted on the windshields of visiting automobiles as identification of guests of the city. These cars will be allowed unlimited parking privileges.

George Spielmen, chairman of the Retail Division of the chamber of commerce, said today that he believes tomorrow's merchandising event will exceed any Dollar Day

OIL PROMOTER FOUND GUILTY

W. A. Curtis, Hollywood real estate man, accused of selling valueless New Mexico oil leases to Mrs. Florence Risk, Tustin widow, was convicted of grand theft of the $700 she paid him, when Superior Judge H. G. Ames concluded trial of the case late yesterday.

Mrs. Louise Carr, asserted accomplice of Curtis, who claimed to be only his chauffeur, was acquitted by the court, who said that her case was suspicious but that the court could not convict on suspicion.

As to Curtis, the court commented that "there is a class, unfortunately large, which preys upon the ignorance and credulity of elderly women, but who do not peddle their wares to persons of business experience."

Curtis applied for probation and will receive a hearing February 18 at 1:30 p. m.

BANK TO FORECLOSE ON LONDON MUSEUM

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Feb. 4.—(UP) — Foreclosure proceedings against a memorial building dedicated to Jack London, noted author, started today before Superior Judge Hilliard Comstock.

The $15,000 building houses a library and museum. It was built in 1923 by the Women's Improvement Club of Glen Ellen, who raised two-thirds of the construction cost and borrowed the remainder from a bank.

Approximately $4600 in principal and interest has been paid, but the principal owed stands at $4000. Foreclosure proceedings have been threatened several months.

The bank recently consented to a postponement while the women's club pressed an appeal for public subscriptions to save the shrine. The building's library contains numerous personal belongings of London, who resided here in his "Valley of the Moon" home.

LICENSE PLATE FEE DOUBLED TOMORROW

After today, the registration fee for automobile license plates will jump from $3 to $6 and the personal tax on all automobiles will be boosted 50 per cent, Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California highway patrol revealed today.

Motorists were warned that the period to obtain 1938 automobile plates without penalty expires at 5 p. m. today.

Reveal Victim Of Crash County Man

Maurice John Fitzmaurice, chief aviation machinist's mate, who met death in a crash of two U. S. Navy bombers near San Diego Wednesday, formerly lived in the Newport harbor district, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Fitzmaurice was Miss Victoria Seielstad, daughter of Mrs. C. J. Seielstad, who resides at 305 Bay avenue, Balboa. The Fitzmaurice home is located in San Diego.

BRITISH SHIP IS VICTIM OF AIR ATTACK

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Great Britain decided today to take energetic measures to sink "pirate" submarines in the Mediterranean on sight and to shoot down airplanes that attack British ships.

The government was thoroughly aroused by the latest incident, the sinking of the British freighter Alcira by two airplanes from the Balearic Islands.

Plan Action

The incident was regarded as certain to strengthen the determination of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to enforce vigorously the defense measures within the British patrol area off the Spanish coast regardless of whether the other powers, including Italy, which have subscribed to the Nyon anti-piracy pact, agree.

France, however, was in agreement with Britain and adopted the same policy. Andre Charles Corbin, French ambassador, conferred with Eden today and communicated his government's views.

Since the latest attack occurred from the air, it was considered likely that the government would expedite its decision to order naval air units, which recently were withdrawn from the Mediterranean, to rejoin the 40 British warships now patrolling the area and about

CRILL ELECTED FARM DELEGATE

J. W. Crill, of Garden Grove, was elected state delegate of the Orange County Farm Bureau at the monthly meeting of the board of directors held yesterday at the farm bureau building in Orange.

A. D. Smiley, of Garden Grove, was chosen by the executive committee, upon direction of the board of directors, to supervise membership work during the next three months. Smiley is treasurer of the Farm Bureau and has been active in its work for several years.

Re-elect Chairman

Announcement was made that John Osterman, of Santa Ana, had been re-elected chairman of the forestry department, V. C. Heil, Smeltzer, re-elected chairman of the beet department, and Ivan Harper, Talbert, had been chosen chairman of the bean department, succeeding L. E. Barry, Smeltzer.

Other matters considered at the meeting yesterday included information that the California Farm Bureau Federation law and utilities department has intervened in a so-called Phoenix, Arizona, freight rate case in order to protect California shippers. This rate case is a petition of the Arizona shippers to set up a preferential rate instead of the one now existing which covers the Arizona territory and California on blanket basis.

S. D. Police Jail 19 In Vice Raids

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Nineteen women were jailed early today when police staged a series of raids on alleged disorderly houses.

er there had ben any conversations in London between Capt. Royal E. Ingersoll, head of the navy war planning board, and officials of the British admiralty.

"I will reply to those questions that you have asked categorically in cognitive session," Leahy said. "I will tell you all about it."

The navy's ranking officer appeared before the house naval affairs committee for the fifth consecutive day for questioning on President Roosevelt's program for a 20 per cent bigger navy.

Rep. John J. McGrath, D., Calif., asserted before the committee that he believed the United States may have occasion to use its navy in Brazil in the "very near future."

Members of the committee questioned Leahy as to why the fleet is almost entirely based in the Pacific. It was brought out that of 15 underage battleships now possessed by the navy 2 are in the Pacific and only three on the Atlantic.

Leahy admitted that in event of attack on the Pacific coast by a major naval power, the Atlantic coast would be practically without naval defense.

McGrath's comments on Brazil came while he was questioning Leahy on advisability of creation of separate fleets for the Atlantic and Pacific.

When the New Zealand geyser, Waimangu, was in its prime, it flung black mud, stones, and scalding water to a height of 500 feet every 36 hours.

20th Century-Fox sound stage from bronchitis and was taken to a hospital with a fever of 101. Ten days later she apparently had recovered fully.

For the last three weeks, the 24-year-old girl who has provided Hollywood with more than her share of legends has been working in "Josette" with a cold, which became worse day by day. Wednesday night she went home to bed. Yesterday she felt so much worse that Drs. Max W. Bay and Harry H. Blond were summoned. They removed her to Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

Suspend Production

Production of "Josette" which co-starred her with Don Ameche, was suspended. The picture is completed, except for recordings of Miss Simon's voice, advertised nationally on billboards, which say:

"Simone Simon Sings Sings."

She pronounces her name Sea Moan Sea Moan." While the studio advertising agents have christened her "La Suavage Tendre."

ORANGE MAYOR IN ANSWER TO CHARGE

today declined to discuss the matter. Questioned regarding the reported demand for the mayor's resignation, he replied: "There's no use asking councilmen such questions and putting them on the spot."

Councilman Kellar E. Watson, jr. at a council meeting early in January, asked the council to approve an allowance for gasoline for the mayor, to use on city business. The city attorney at that time ruled such an allowance would be legitimate. Dr. Riley then objected to any future allowance, on the ground that the mayor knew what his salary would be when he sought office and should not receive any extra allowance.

Gasoline Re, laced

Councilman Watson said today that the council investigated the charges against Mayor Boice several weeks ago, asked the mayor to replace the gasoline he had used, which was done, the matter being dropped. Watson said he knew of no request for the mayor's resignation.

Mayor Boice oday apparently viewed the accusation against him with mixed amusement and defiance, saying he has no intention "of submitting meekly to any conspiracy of cheap politicians." His full statement follows:

"The mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse. I am accused of stealing $7.80 from the city of Orange. After the activities of some of my political friends in circulating scandal during the past few weeks, I am somewhat surprised at the net result. There was certainly more than $7.80 worth of scandal circulated. To my friends and to the people of Orange, I wish only to say definitely that I did not steal $7.80 or any other sum. Neither do I intend to submit meekly to any conspiracy of cheap politicians to make it appear that I have.

"I have lived in Orange a long time and I have enjoyed the reputation of a recent citizen. It is unlikely that I would forfeit that reputation for a trifling sum. In due time and place I shall meet these charges and deal with their authors. In the meantime, I ask the people to suspend judgment until all the facts are presented."

BRITISH SHIP SUNK BY PIRATE PLANES

"Sink at Sight" Policy

It was noted that a statement from official quarters referred to "extension" of the Lyon patrol, whereas earlier official declarations spoke merely of "strengthening" it. Eden will make a full statement in the House of Commons on Monday.

The British plan, in addition to the "sink at sight" policy, evisages a revival of the war time convoy system, under which British vessels proceed in groups over dangerous routes under convoy of destroyers.

CREW OF STRICKEN SHIP RESCUED

BARCELONA, Feb. 4.—(UP)—It was asserted officially today that two seaplanes from the Nationalist base in Majorca Island, in the Balearics, bombed and sank the British steamship Alcira 20 miles southeast of Barcelona.

The attack was made at 6:45 a. m., it was said.

Members of the Alcira's crew, arriving here by rowboat, first reported the attack.

A fishing boat and a government launch saved the remainder of the 25 men of the Alcira's crew, it was said officially, and a British observer of the international Spanish non-intervention committee who was aboard.

Five Bombs Dropped

The official statement said that the seaplanes first dropped three bombs at the Alcira and then returned to attack with two more bombs.

The Alcira sank at once with the cargo of oil it was bringing from Great Britain, it was said.

A member of the Alcira's crew said:

"We were warned that planes were overhead but took no notice. We thought it was a joke. We heard machine gun fire and then we knew that something serious was happening.

"The planes first machine gunned us and then returned slowly, very low, nearly touching the masts and flying from the stern.

"The planes dropped three bombs and made three hits. One struck the hold and started a fire. One struck in the non-intervention observer's cabinet which was empty. The third, a dud, struck in the funnel."

ATTACK SUSPECT IS JAILED BY POLICE

Mrs. Iona Boone, 131 West Chartres, Anaheim, and her cousin, Mrs. Bessie Epperly, 832 South Philadelphia, Anaheim, the latter a waitress at Bob's cafe, suddenly tried to jump from the man's automobile as he made advances toward Mrs. Epperly.

Mrs. Boone succeeded in getting away and running into an orange grove but the man grabbed Mrs. Epperly by the throat and held her as her feet dragged along the pavement, she said.

As they struggled a gun fell to the floor of the car, then Mrs. Epperly fell to the pavement and the car ran over both of her legs. The asserted would-be attacker, according to Mrs. Epperly, then stopped his car and attempted to back it over her body. Struggling to her feet just in time to avoid possible death, she ran as fast as her badly bruised legs would permit, and hid in the orange grove, she said.

The women joined one another and hid behind a sign board as the man turned his car around and drove up and down for several minutes in front of the grove, looking for the women. Then he left.

"He told us at Bob's cafe where I work, after we had started home, run out of gasoline and walked back to the cafe, that he would play the 'Good Samaritan' and drive us in his car to Anaheim to get a gallon of gasoline, then return us to our car," Mrs. Epperly told officers. "He took us to a service station at Broadway and South Los Angeles street where we obtained the gas and started back to the car which was stalled near the old Weber bakery plant on 101 highway. Before we arrived there, he attempted to harm us."

The women, after their horrifying experience, were taken home by a friend, James Steppe, Anaheim, E. J. Stevens and W. D. Wright, employes of Bob's cafe, said they could identify the assailant. The women said they could identify both the assailant and his car.

Anaheim police made preliminary investigation of the would-be attack, then, through investigation of sheriff's officers, Jesko was arrested at noon today by Sheriff Logan Jackson, Deputy McKelvey and Deputy John Gilmore.

HARBOR CLUB IS TOLD OF ENGLAND

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 4.—A travelogue of his recent vacation trip in England was given at the Wednesday meeting of the Newport Harbor Service club by James Watkins, a harbor resident.

At the meeting next week, more than 25 members of the Santa Ana Rotary club will be guests of the club and then taken on a trip around the bay. Harry Welch, chamber of commerce secretary, will be program chairman.

STEADY SLUMP IN COAL'S USE SPANS 15 YEARS

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Technological improvements in industry have contributed largely to the downfall of coal from its former position of economic preminence, according to Dr. W. H. Young, economist for the National Bituminous Coal Commission.

Not only improvements, but the sudden and gigantic development of oil and gas as fuels, and water power as a source of electrical energy also have contributed, Dr. Young pointed out in a current study of the ailing industry.

While Dr. Young's study related to the bituminous coal industry, Gov. George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania, has proposed that the Federal government take over the similarly "sick" anthracite coal industry in his state.

Bituminous coal contributed more than 70 per cent of the energy in the United States in 1913, fell to 60.5 per cent in 1923, and in 1936 was contributing only 47.1 per cent Dr. Young cited the following factors contributing to the downfal of coal.

1. Changes in fuel-using industries, citing the smelters as an example. Many smelters now are using gas or oil.
2. Improvement in fuel burning equipment to decrease the quantity of coal required for production of energy units. In 1920 blast furnaces required 3,420 pounds of coal per gross ton of pig iron, and in 1936 only 2,900 pounds, a quarter of a ton saving in coal.
3. Increased use of competitive fuel and forms of energy, particularly oil, natural gas and hydro-electric power.
4. Improvements in house insulation against cold weather.
5. Automatic heat controls to adjust consumption of fuel to a fine point.
6. Improvement of burner construction and development of more efficient radiation.

Price wars, such as those in the 1920's, also contributed to the industry's problems, Dr. Young found. Average realization of coal companies on fuel at the mine declined from $2.20 a ton in 1924 to $1.34 in 1933. The 1923 price was $2.68 a ton.

Even in the boom year of 1929, the industry suffered a net loss of $12,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year during the three years after 1930. Dr. Young estimated the 1936 loss at $29,646,981.

Labor costs since 1933 have increased 117 per cent per ton, he found. An all-time high in mine employment was reached in 1923 with 705,000 workers on the payrolls. In 1934, this figure had shrunk to 458,000. The peak production was reached in the war year of 1918 when 579,000,000 tons of coal were mined. Since then the demand has fallen steadily.

Despite adverse conditions in recent years, wage agreements have been generally maintained in contrast to 1923 when contracts were widely abrogated during the slump of coal prices, Dr. Young found.

The Federal government is attempting to regulate prices, fixing a minimum below which producers can not sell in market areas, to aid the industry. The coal commission recently issued minimum price schedules which were attacked, and the Guffey-Vinson act setting up the coal commission has been challenged in court.

RED CROSS TO MEET TODAY ON RELIEF IN CHINA

In the coffers of the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross today was $126 cash, donations given for relief of Chinese refugees in war-torn China, in connection with a nation-wide American Red Cross campaign to raise at least $1,000,000 for the Chinese Red Cross.

To Garden Grove branch of the Red Cross goes the highest honor today, Mrs. C. C. Violett, chairman of that branch, presented a check for $100 on behalf of the branch, the money to go to Chinese refugees. Four individuals also presented an additional $28 for relief, Mrs. Laura Warren, executive secretary of the Orange county unit of Red Cross, said.

Directors to Confer

Twenty million persons in China are in utter distress and need, according to Mrs. Warren today. Each one of those persons can be provided with food, clothing and medical care for one month, she revealed.

Today at 4 p. m., a meeting of the chapter board of directors, heads of all chapter branches, at San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach, Costa Mesa, Huntington Beach, Seal Beach and San Clemente and members of the chapter executive committee, will meet. The meeting, to be held at the main office, 624 North Main, Santa Ana, will be held for the purpose of mapping out a program by which it is hoped Chinese relief funds may be obtained. Donations may be made at the main office or in the First National Bank to Harry Hanson, treasurer.

GIRL RESERVES MEET

ORANGE, Feb. 4.—Junior Girl Reserves met this week at the home of Charlotte Morrow, the topic being discussed being "Vocations," with Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, Orange Y. W. C. A. secretary, leading the discussion. Refreshments were served following games.

Frances Willard

A new display for the craft showcase was received from the Dudley studios in Los Angeles, consisting of sugar and cream sets in modern designs made by Willard students and sent to the studio for glazing. Miss Helen Glancy, craft instructor, announced that turquoise pottery is the most popular and effective this year. Dorothy Edwards and Pauline Kiech made graceful flower vases. Other displays include an unusual six-inch pewter dish made by Eva Cummings, a collection of pewter pieces by Jane Doyle and a pottery contribution by Marvis Swanson.

A ninth grade Saint Valentine's sport dance sponsored by the Willard Hi-Y and the ninth grade Girl Reserves will be held in the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening, February 11, at 8:00 o'clock, Miss Wyllys Anderson and Herbert Michel, club advisors, announced today. Tickets will be sold by the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y members. Students may come stag or in couples as usual.

The eighth grade girl's glee club is going to sing several numbers school during the first week of Febschool durin the first week of February, according to Miss Esther Jean Davis, director. The glee club is now singing the more difficult three-part songs. Joanne Hockaday will sing two selections, "Roses of Picardy" and "Danny Boy."

The ninth grade girls glee club is debating for corduroy or silk blouses for new uniforms. 'The blouses will be worn on the outside of the white skirts," Miss Helen Glancy stated. "They will be bright blue with a white treble cleft on the left side," she concluded.

Russell Lutes of the Identification Bureau of the sheriff's office was the featured speaker at the combined meeting of the Willard and Lathrop Hi-Y clubs at the Y. W. C. A. Lutes gave a very instructive talk on finger-printing. Herbert Thomas, club advisor, proposed that a junior high school basketball league of four teams, including Lathrop and Willard, be started.

The combined boys glee clubs, directed by Herbert Michel, will present a program Tuesday, February 8, at Lincoln school. They will sing "Water Boy," "My Bonnie Lass," "Stars of the Winter night" and "Anchored," their new numbers. The glee club, which is one of the largest in Southern California, now has 76 members, according to Michel. In the near future the boys will elect officers and give a party for new members, a definite date to be decided later.

Fourteen members of Norman Hicks' Low nine electric shop class made an excursion to his home at 1119 North Lowell street for the purpose of inspecting his home-built amateur radio station, W6JMA. There Hicks explained various instruments, both transmitting and receiving, to the interested spectators. Hicks has one 53-foot mast, and three antennae. He has three separate transmitters operating on 5, 10 and 75 metres. "The 10 metre was used until four o'clock," explained Mr. Hicks, "when the 75 metre was switched in." While using the 10 metre band, they conversed with W5WRV, of Shreveport, Louisiana, and W9WXT, of Dwight, Illinois. W6IOX of Santa Barbara, and W6CDO, of Yuicapao, California, were reached on the 75 metre band.

The L9-C English class, under the direction of Mrs. Maurine Scott, had several conversation panels during the week of January 16, which were given by the pupils of that class.

Jessie Mae Miles was elected president and Marjorie Adams vice president of the Eighth Grade Girl Reserves at their last meeting. Other officers elected were Rosemary Anderson, secretary; Mona Mae Rhinehart, treasurer; and Louise Kenyon, inter-club council representative.

Mr. Fred Erler, of the Chevrolet Motor company, presented four 'Sam Handy' pictures in an assembly held for the seventh and eighth grades. The topics of the pictures were Lubrication of the Car, Body Design, Differential of an Automobile and Safety Devices.

A new eighth grade drama club, sponsored by Mrs. Nellie Smith, has been organized to take the place of the former ninth grade club. "Until the semester routine is settled, the club will have just a few members," Mrs. Smith stated. "Oother students will be added to the club later."

Present members include Marjorie Adkinson, Patricia Paul, Bob Fletcher, David Hearle and Bill Brown who will present the play, "Two's Company" in the near future. Members working on the play "Whole Smith Family" are Anna May Burks, Lucille Mendenhall, Betty Jo Swafford, Patricia McGee and Jean Withall.

New Engraving Process

If you have a copy of the Honduras 46c black, yellow, red, blue and magenta commerative (AP11 chronicled in the November Journal) honoring the United States Constitution, a microscopic examination of it will disclose that it differs in appearance from the pieces of postal paper with which collectors have long been familiar. The colors are actually interwoven into the pattern. Upon the colors, yellow, red, blue and magenta, the engraving is superimposed in such a way that all color is an absolute register throughout.

This is because a method of steel-engraving was used which had never before been identified with the producing of stamps—a process heretofore employed only in making paper banknotes.

The Constitution "sesqui" commemoratives of Ecuador and Peru are being produced through the same method, and an authoritative prediction is offered that many foreign stamps of the future will be similarly engraved, with a resultant striking enrichment of philately's panorama of postal color.

Literature and Stamps

In an article in a contemporary recently, a writer said: "The Book Fair which was held at New York City in November had no particular reference to philately." Suggesting that the article's author, if he visited The New York Times National Book Fair at Rockefeller Center, omitted a tour of the Fair's hobby room. In refutation of his irresponsible statement:

One of the displays in the hobby room was titled "Literature and Philately" and today can be viewed on a wall in the editorial office of Scott's Journal. Framed under glass are about fifty stamps with likenesses of persons who have been remembered because of their attainments in letters. As the display's foreword explains:

"Philately presents a broad panorama of portraits and designs associated with early and modern literature. Nations of the world have postally honored many scores of authors, poets, journalists, critics, philosophers, dramatists and others who have won renown through the written word. Numerous stamps illustrate books, notably the Bible. Other stamps are inscribed with quotations from the classics.

"This exhibit is representative only. It suggests the fascination which the ubiquitous hobby of philately offers the booklover."

Many New Foreign Stamps

Southern Rhodesia has new type of King George VI from 2 cents to 5 shilling.

Straits settlements has new type of King eorge VI from 2 cents to 30 cents.

Belgium has new antituberculosis Charity with Princess Josephine Charlotte. These run from 10c and 5c slate color to 2f.45 and 2f.55 magenta. These are as beautiful as other Queen Astrid stamps.

Brazil has four new Tourist Prapaganda Series. They run from 200 r. to 10,000 r.

Holland has some five new Child Welfare stamps running from 1 1-2c to 12 1-2c.

5000 Pounds For One Stamp

A stamp which, for many years, lay hidden in the famous "Ferrari" collection is reported to have been sold recently for £5,000.

Only one specimen of the stamp is known to exist. It is the three skilling-banco of Sweden, 1855, printed in yellow instead of green. Yellow is the color of the 8 skilling-banco, and it is probable that a cliche' of the 3 skilling was made up accidentally in a plate of the 8 skilling.

Baron Leijonhufvud, the great specialist in the issues of Sweden, who owned the stamp for several years, was of the opinion that the error occurred during a late printing on thick paper in 1857.

The specimen is lightly cancelled with the postmark of a small village post office which existed in 1857, but which has long since been closed.

Sold for Eight Shillings

The stamp was discovered by Lt.-Col. Backman in 1885, when, as a schoolboy collector, he was looking through some old letters which had been given to him by his grandmother. He sold it to a Stockholm dealer for about 8s. A few years later it passed to the Ferrari collection.

At the Ferrari sale in 1922 the stamp was bought by Baron Leijonhufvud for £700, and four years later it was sold privately to Mr. C. A. Camm for £1,200. In 1928 it was bought for £2,000 by Dr. Ramberg, and it was on his instructions that the stamp has now been sold privately by Mr. H. R. Harmer. The purchaser has asked that his name should not be disclosed.

With the exception of the £7,343 paid at the Ferrari sale for the one cent British Guiana of 1856, the £5,000 paid for the 3 skilling-banco is the highest price ever realized by a single postage stamp. The price of £5,000 was reported from Sweden but Mr. Harmer would not confirm it.

Jubilee Quantities

The New York Sun has recently issued a most interesting little booklet dealing with the Silver Jubilee and Coronation stamps. The most interesting section gives details of the quantities of Silver Jubilee stamps printed. Most of the quantities are recorded and it would seem that some 1,230,000,000 Jubilee stamps were issued. No figures are given for the one cent or ten cent Canadian stamps as they are still on issue.

Of the Crown Colony issues, the commonest stamp of all should be the six cent Ceylon of which 10,900,000 were printed. This is followed by the penny Jamaica of which 9,330,000 were printed.

Scarce Mauritius

If these figures are accurate the rarest of the Jubilee stamps is the British Solomon Islands 1s. of which only 14,638 were printed. The Mauritius quantities are, five cents — (36,836), twelve cents — (19,966), twenty cents—(29,620) and one rupee—(25,620). Other Crown Colony Silver Jubilee stamps of which less than 35,000 were printed are, according to this booklet, as follows: Ascension 2d. (31,300), Nigeria 1s. (31,369), Gilbert and Ellice Islands 1s. (23,800), Malta, 1s. (32,780), Seychelles 1s. (26,300), Sierra Leone 1s. (33,500), British Solomon Islands 3d. (33,432), 6d. (26,322) Cayman Islands 1s. (29,680), Northern Rhodesia 6d. (32,733), St. Helena 6d. (32,450), 1s. (27,600), and St. Lucia 1s. (33,600).

Learning From Your Stamps

With this information it is easy to find out interesting things about stamps by consulting encyclopedias, geographies, books of history, or books like the Books of Knowledge of World Book.

Always try to find out everything you can about your stamps and when ou read newspapers and magazines tr to find things that have some connection with stamps. Once you start looking for information about stamps or about countries and people shown on stamps you'll be surprised at th enumber of things that you'll find.

Condition

The condition of your stamps is most important because the nearer perfect a stamp is the more it is worth as a specimen in your collection.

You can put stamps in your collection which are poorly centered or which are heavily canceled, but as soon as you can get hold of better copies you should immediately discard teh poor ones.

Catalogue prices are calculated for good copies of stamps and the poorer the condition of a stamp the less it is worth. Catalogue prices are often high even for perfect specimens, but if you really take pride in your collection you will want in it the best available specimens that you can get.

Watermarks and Perforations

A watermark is a design impressed into the paper while being made and because the paper is thinner where the watermark is, the design may be seen when the paper is held to the light. In stamp collecting watermarks are important because differences in the watermark design make it possible to tell the difference between stamps which otherwise look just alike.

The watermark detector is a little black tray used to help the collector see watermarks. It is used by placing the stamp face down on the tray and pouring benzine over it. This makes teh paper translucent and the watermark is plainly visible.

In the catalogue the description of each stamp tells whether or not it is watermarked and until you get a catalogue and begin to follow it in the arranging of your stamps you'll have little occasion to use the watermark detector.

The same tihng is true of perforations. You know that sheets of stamps are perforated, that small holes are punched in rows between stamps so that they can be torn apart easily. Often a different number of perforations is used on different issues and the only way you can tell some issues of stamps apart is by the difference in the number of perforations.

Perforations are measured by the number of holes appearing in two centimers (about three-fourths of an inch) but since it is so much trouble to measure off this length and count the oles the perforation gauge has been devised. This is a card with combinations of dots printed on it corresponding to the different perforations that are found. A perforation gauge is used by sliding the stamp along the card until the dots printed on the card match with the holes in the perforation of the stamp. The figure iven beside that particular combination of dots is the perforation of the stamp.

Perforations will not bother you much in the beginning, but eventually you'll begin to notice and to classify the various perforation varieties. However you need not worry about perforations for some time and you had better spend the money for stamps that otherwise would buy a perforation gauge and watermark detector.

Any question dealing with stamps will be gladly answered by C. W. Clarke, 1322 N. Garnsey street, Santa Ana.

LOT OF TEXAS

Marquette will play three Texas football teams next fall—Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas Tech.

The longest period of ruleship of any of Britain's kings was that of George III, who retained the throne for 59 years, from 1760 to 1820, and died at the age of 81.

Walnut Wood Of Giant Tree Tops 30 Tons

CHICO, Calif.—(UP) — One of the largest walnut trees ever grown in the United States has just passed from the yard of Dr H. L. Voorhees here to the veneer factory.

The tree was its own undoing because it grew so big that it endangered the house which for more than half a century previously it had merely shaded.

Gen. John Bidwell is credited with having planted the tree in 1871. Although big offers had been made for it by veneer houses and other concerns dealing extensively in walnut wood, all offers were refused until it became imperative to fell the tree.

The purchaser was finally a wood mosaic factory at Louisville, Ky. The cutting down of the tree and its removal without taking the house with it, constituted a ticklish job.

When the job was done it was found that the trunk and limbs weighed 65,000 pounds, or 30½ tons.

From the stump, the trunk and all limbs measuring 14 inches and more in diameter, it was possible to obtain 160,000 square feet of veneer of varying thicknesses.

The tree contained more than 5000 board feet as compared with the average of 300 to 400 feet which the usual American walnut tree yields.

A complete history of the tree has been written and published.

OFFICIALS CONFER ON HIGHWAY ZONING

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4—'38—Took a visitor from New York on a tour of the studios today and on the way back to his hotel, asked him what one thing had impressed him most. After a moment's thought, he said: "The complete lack of formality on the sets — the fact that the least laborer feels free to call the star or director by his first name. I've never seen such democracy."

I am sorry to spoil an illusion, but that lack of formality is not an evidence of democracy. It is merely an evidence of nerve tension and the Hollywood demand for speed. Not long ago I wrote and delivered the commentation for a novelty two-reeler entitled Jimmie Fidler's Personality Parade. Before I had been on the recording set two minutes, every workman there was calling me Jimmie, as casually as though we were boyhood friends. And, without knowing their names, I was calling them Tom or Bill or Jack. They were on a tension; I was on a tension. We simply did not have time for the formalities which reign in the average business.

And I am frank to admit that I was mighty glad to be addressed as "Jimmie." Somehow it helped put me at ease. And I needed that—for the studio microphone scared me into a state of semi-consciousness.

Christmas is long past — but this story of a youngster's clever plotting has come to my attention and it is too good to keep. For several weeks before Christmas, this fourteen year old haunted the restaurants and preview theatres begging for star autographs. Instead of proferring the regulation book, he had his victims sign their names on individual cards. By Christmas week, he had nearly a hundred cards, each one bearing a famous name in the owner's handwriting. And then he filled in each one with a "Merry Christmas" and his own name. Somehow, I have a hunch that boy will make his mark in life.

Speaking of youthful guile, I am reminded of Bill Powell's twelve year old son—a student in a Southern California military academy—who came home last week-end to visit his pa. And nothing would do but a dinner in a certain Hollywood restaurant—one that Bill happens to detest. Mr. Powell sr. argued the point but the boy was so insistent that he finally carried the day. Outside the restaurant a twelve-year old girl stepped up with an autograph book—and Bill, who is an understanding soul, caught the exchange of glances and realized that he was the vic-

BEARD, MARKEL HEAD GROUP TO L. A. CONCLAVE

County Highway Engineer A. A. Beard, Jules Markel, secretary of the Orange County Planning Commission, and other members of the commission are in Los Angeles today conferring with officials of that county relative to zoning Imperial Highway.

Los Angeles delegates to the conference will represent the Regional Planning Commission, Los Angeles County Planning Commission and Los Angeles Board of Supervisors.

Months of Effort

The conference culminates months of work by the Orange county group that has been seeking to have that part of the Imperial highway in this county zoned to prevent unsightly junk yards and small businesses springing up along the route.

The local planning group, according to Markel, has been making an effort to interest similar groups in Los Angeles county and property owners in adopting a uniform zoning plan that would protect scenic and property values of the highway.

Demands Listed

The conference in Los Angeles today was called when a junk yard was erected on the Los Angeles end of the highway near El Segundo. Property owners obtained scores of signatures to a petition for removal of the yard and obtained action on their demands.

The conference was called after authorities in Los Angeles county forced removal of the yard and faced hundreds of demands from property owners along the route for protective zoning.

MISSION HEAD SPEAKS

FULLERTON, Feb. 4.—Miss Allena Grafton, Los Angeles, state secretary of United missions, was speaker at a meeting of the Christian church Missionary society this week at the home of Mrs. O. L. Anderson on South Highland avenue.

Mrs. Grace Heartfield, of Santa Ana, district missionary secretary, talked briefly. Mrs. W. L. Jones led devotionals and Mrs. Julia Cusick was in charge of the program.

Fireman's Life

Life of a fire laddy is far from being all beer and skittles, as this "shot" of Fireman Bill McLaughlin, San Francisco shows. While dense smoke pours around his head, McLaughlin gets a "facial" from a fire hose. He was fighting an industrial fire.

BRENNAN TO SEEK POST OF U. S. WEBB

Democrats of Orange county have been notified of the candidacy of James F. Brennan, San Francisco, former state assemblyman, for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. Brennan will make the race for the post being vacated by U. S. Webb, who will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

Notices of Brennan's candidacy are being sent out by the Brennan For Attorney General, inc., recently formed organization to further his candidacy. Officers of the new organization are Courtney L. Moore, president; Joseph J. McShane, secretary and manager, and John C. Quinlan, treasurer.

LUDLOW BILL DISCUSSED BY LIONS' SPEAKER

Pros and cons of the proposed Ludlow amendments to the Constitution that would prevent the President of the United States from making a declaration of war until such issue had been voted at a national plebiscite except in case of invasion, were discussed at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

Dr. John Brown Mason, instructor at Santa Ana junior college, the speaker, outlined arguments for and against the proposal.

"Ought To Have Voice"

"The principal argument for the amendment is that the people who have to do the fighting ought to have a voice in the declaration of a war," Dr. Mason said. "The contention is answered by those against the amendment, who say no war ever has been declared by Congress that was not the direct response of the will of the people.

"One argument against the bill is that it would cripple the hands of the government in time of a crisis and in our foreign relations policy. The reply to this is that, due to the speed of the printing press and the radio, the plebiscite could be tabulated in less than a week.

"The whole question resolves itself into a decision of the query: Are the people any less excitable than the members of Congress and the President?"

More Protection?

"Even if the amendment passes, will we have more or less protection against war, is another question that the public must decide."

Four new members were inducted into membership in the club at yesterday's meeting by the Rev. Perry Schrock. They were George Paes, Basil Smith, George Tobias and Gregg Watson. George Raymer was program chairman, and introduced the speaker. Frank Harwood presided at the meeting.

Although we pay a premium for fresh eggs the world's most highly-prized eggs are those of a dinosaur, which are estimated to be at least 75,000,000 years old.

BEAUTY, CHARM AND ROMANCE FIGURE IN CONCERT TONIGHT

Not only the high musical standing of the artists, Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, appearing tonight on the Behymer-Wilson artist series at the high school auditorium, but the rumored beauty and charm of Ethel Bartlett, and the romance that brought the artists together, serve to whet interest of Santa Ana music lovers in the appearance of the piano duo.

For their student days in London meant romance to the two, and their marriage continued this romance which was crowned when they finally launched their concert programs as duo pianists. They have never concertized separately since, and their tours have taken them to all musical centers of Europe and virtually all the large cities of the United States.

Interested In Audiences

They have met with as much enthusiasm in this country as they meet abroad, and those who have been privileged to hear them this year, say their work is if possible, better than ever before. Always interested in their audiences, Miss Bartlett and Mr. Robertson were enthusiastic in acceptance of the invitation of Santa Ana Musical Arts club to a reception following tonight's concert.

Musical Arts club is sponsor of the artist series, and has staged many pleasant parties in compliment to guest artists. Tonight's affair will be held in Danigers immediately after the program, and reservations are being made through Mrs. Emil Wagner of the club hospitality committee.

Jaysee Scribes To Forget 'Grind' At Tonight's Fete

Deadlines will be forgotten, and pencils and typewriters will be set aside by members of El Don's staff tonight when they go on their annual party. The jaysee newspaper staff will attend a theater party in Los Angeles.

Each year the paper honors its editors with the party. The staff will be accompanied by John H. McCoy, journalism adviser, and Mrs. McCoy; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Williams, printing director of the college Fine Arts Press.

2ND SEMESTER ATTRACTS 740

Enrollment figures to date reveal that 740 students have signed up for classes for the second semester at Santa Ana Junior college. The figure does not include enrollment by classes, Registrar Mabel G. Whiting said.

Registration was held Monday and Tuesday for sophomores, freshmen, and new students. Late registration of new students will continue next week in the college office.

More Expected

Last semester total registration reached a new high at the jaysee when 835 were enrolled. More are expected to sign up for classes when the new semester is well under way.

Many Orange county communities are represented by students who are attending the college, as well as out-of-state cities.

M. W. D. Employes To Hold Dinner

A dinner and dance will be sponsored the evening of Feb. 19 at Lake Norconian Hotel by the Field Force of Metropolitan Water district aqueduct employes, according to an announcement received here today.

Dinner will be served at 7 p. m. in the hotel ballrom with dancing to follow, the announcement said.

GROUND SCHOOL AIR COURSE IS PROPOSED HERE

Plans for operating a ground school course for licensed airplane pilots and student aviators were revealed here today by Dale Deckert, sportsman pilot and representative of the National Aeronautic Association in Santa Ana.

The course, if approved by the board of education, will start at 7 p. m. Friday, Feb. 11, in the old print shop at the high school and be operated as a part of the Adult Education Department. R. H. Drake, a government licensed instructor, would have charge of the classes to be conducted every Friday night from 7 to 9 p. m.

Cover All Phases

Deckert said instruction to be given would cover all phases of the new air commerce rules and regulations that became effective Jan. 1, in addition to instruction in airplane rigging, motors, meterology, navigation, blind and instrument flying.

The classes will be opened to pilots and students who must take such instruction under new regulations of the Bureau of Air Commerce, Deckert said.

In 1804, the Bible had been translated into 72 languages; today it has been translated into 835.

MRS. HEMMEN HURT IN MISHAP

An unhappy climax to what had been planned as a joyous birthday celebration, was the accident occurring last night to Mrs. William J. Hemmen, at her home, 624 South Parton street, when she fell, breaking the bone in her left leg.

Several friends of the family had gathered for a surprise party complimenting Mrs. Hemmen's birthday anniversary, the group including Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harlow and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Frevert.

Mrs. Hemmen had stepped to the back door on an errand and fell on the steps, slippery from the rain. She was taken immediately to St. Joseph hospital where X-rays proved the bone in her leg to be broken.

GRAND MANITOU OUT OF $100,000 RACE

ARCADIA — (UP) — Grand Manitou, Raoul Walsh's imported French hope for the Santa Anita Handicap, was declared from the $100,000 spring classic today because of training injuries. Several other "big name" entries have been declared in the last few weeks.

COLLEGIATE SKIERS CLASH AT YOSEMITE

YOSEMITE — (UP) — Eighty-eight skiers from 15 colleges vie on the snow covered slopes here today, Saturday and Sunday in the third annual Pacific Coast intercollegiate competitions.

Defending champions are the Huskies of the University of Washington, who will attempt to retain their Yosemite Winter Cup trophy against the largest field of entries ever to participate in a collegiate meet here.

Pitted against the Huskies will be jumpers and cross-country artists from Oregon State, College of Puget Sound, California Aggies, Modesto junior college, University of Nevada, University of Oregon, Pomona, Fresno State, Reed college of Oregon, Sacramento junior college, U. C. L. A., Califronia Institute of Technology, Stanford and the University of Caliofrnia.

The California and Oregon entries were received yesterday.

In accord with the "greatest meet on record," it was announced the cross-country event has been lengthened this year and ski-jumping added to the list of events.

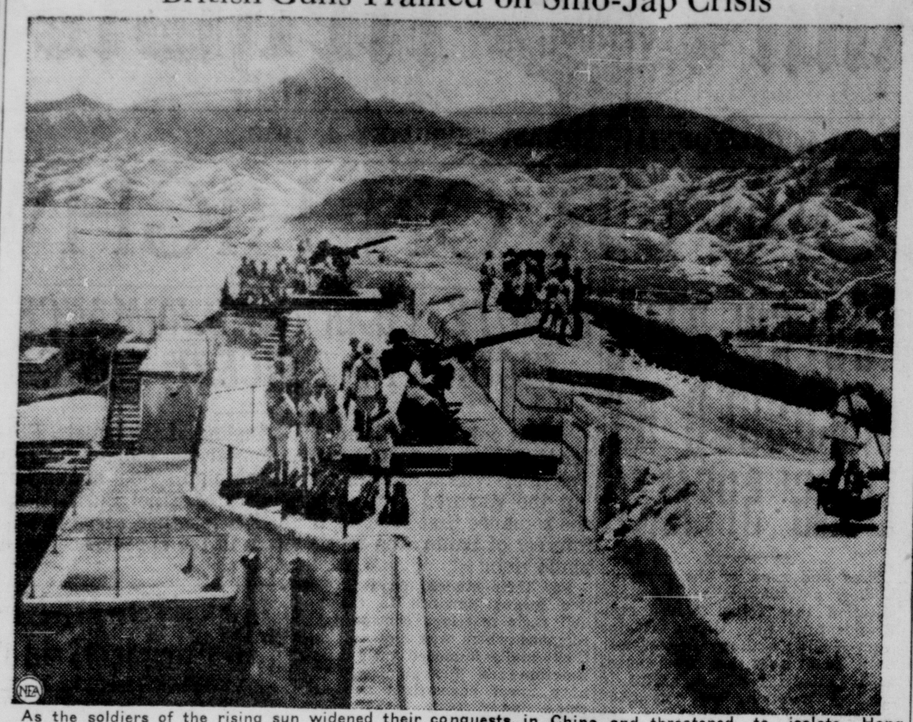

The seven-mile cross country race will get under way at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. Downhill events will start at 10 a. m. Saturday.

'WHIZZER' PONDERS OVER $15,000 BID

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — Indications of a possibility that Byron (Whizzer) White may accept $15,000 to play professional football next season were carried today in a letter received by John Maher, secretary of the Pittsburgh Pirates professional football team.

White wrote that he didn't want to act hastily in the matter, and asked that he be advised how long the offer of $15,000 for the 1938 season would stand.

British Guns Trained on Sino-Jap Crisis

As the soldiers of the rising sun widened their conquests in China and threatened to isolate Hong Kong, England tuned up her Empire guns. A bona fide tenant of China by right of renting Hong Kong, Great Britain moved to protect its property. The anti-aircraft weapons at the mouth of Hong Kong harbor, hills of China in background, are pictured as England's artillerymen got them ready for action.

CAFE BANDIT IS GIVEN PROBATION

Earl Ira Morgan, recently convicted of an Irvine cafe robbery, today was placed on probation for three years by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, on condition that he make resitution of the $27 he obtained in a hold-up of the Lynn Young cafe at Irvine, and that he return to his home in Clovis, N. M.

Morgan, defending himself at his trial, blamed the robbery upon a 17-year-old hitch-hiker who had been riding with him. Morgan was charged with the cafe robbery, also robbery of $1 from a service station attendant, nearby. He was acquitted of the latter charge.

18 Years of Service In Orange County

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE gray parrot of Africa is probably the most gifted of all speaking birds, but the mynah is much more proficient than many parrot species that are famous for their human-like speech. Other birds that can be taught to talk are the piping crows of Australia, some species of jays, macaws, and even starlings.

THREE PERSONS INJURED IN ORANGE COUNTY ACCIDENTS

Three persons were injured yesterday afternoon and last night in three traffic accidents on Orange county highways, investigation by California highway patrol officers revealed.

G. Keith Graves, 45, and Clidia Graves,, 41, both of Long Beach, were injured at Red Hill and Browning roads, south of Tustin last night, as a car driven by Graves and one driven by Lawrence Ramp, 43, Route 1, Santa Ana, collided. Ramp was making a U-turn on the highway as the cars collided. The Graves were taken home by a friend.

Another Collision

Mrs. A. Dirksen, 45, Los Alamitos, was injured last night at Katella road and Harbor boulevard when her car and one operated by Flora Cox, about 50, Garden Grove, collided. Yesterday afternoon at 101 highway and Manchester boulevard, a large truck operated by Thomas Georgianna, 23, Maywood, and a delivery truck operated by Alvin M. Caspari, 36, Orange, collided, neither driver being injured.

California Highway Patrol Officer George Peterkin ticketed Caspari for assertedly driving with a restricted license which required him to wear glasses. He wore no glasses, the officer said.

Tissues taken from an animal's body can be kept alive indefinitely, according to biologists. Microscopic cells taken from a chicken have outlived the normal life of the fowl.

SADDLEBACK TO BE SCENE OF NOVEL AFFAIR

Tentative plans for a spectacular demonstration at the top of Saddleback were revealed Wednesday night at a meeting of Scoutmasters of Orange County.

The demonstration, according to Ray Overacker, originator of the plan, and chairman of a committee named to work out details, will be conducted by Boy Scouts for the purpose of calling attention to Saddleback as a recreational area.

Co-operation of the United States Forestry Department, Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county already have been enlisted.

The demonstration, Overacker said, will be presented during the Easter vacation. Tentative plans call for short wave radio broadcasts from the mountain peak, flare signalling from Scouts of Orange county to Scouts of adjoining counties and a program for Scouts and others who make the trip to the mountain.

Details of the demonstration will be worked out by Overacker, Howard, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, W. H. Gallienne, secretary of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce and a representative of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Civic groups of Orange county have been trying for some time to call attention to Saddleback as a recreational center. According to Overacker the demonstration by the scouts will not only emphasize facilities of the area but will interest scouts in the forests and natural resources of Orange county.

Under the present plans more than a thousand scouts will participate in the program through cooperation of county councils in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties. Signals to be flashed from the mountain peak will be recorded and answered as a part of the program.

Court Notes

Mrs. Amanda Drummond charged desertion in a superior court suit for divorce, filed today against Arthur Drummond. The couple wed in Los Angeles April 8, 1932, and separated the following June 27.

Suit for a deficiency judgment of $864.38 was filed in superior court today by H. W. Ewerts against Roy Beall, of Santa Ana. The complaint recited that Beall had executed a note for $1600 in 1932, that $304.66 was paid upon the principal, and that a trust deed foreclosure last December reduced the amount another $600, leaving a balance, including interest and costs, $864.38.

The Bank of America was plaintiff today in a superior court suit filed against Norman G. Bottger and Genevieve M. Bottger, of Laguna Beach, asking judgment for $3615 alleged to be due on a note, together with interest and $178.45 attorney fees.

Hearing of the probation application made by John J. Madden, of Camden, New Jersey, in connection with a check charge, was postponed today by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel to February 11 at 1:30 p. m., to permit further investigation of the claim that Madden had slugged Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach, while the officer was bringing him to Santa Ana from Arizona to face the check charge.

FORMER CHIEF DESIGNER FOR U. S. NAVY FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME AT NEWPORT BEACH

Gilbert L. Kirby, 77, a former chief designer in engineering for the United States navy, was found dead in bed at his home at the rear of 113 Twenty-second street. Newport Beach, yesterday. No inquest will be held, according to Coroner Earl Abbey, who investigated.

Mr. Kirby had been a member of the I. O. O. F. and Masonic orders for many years. He served in the Navy for a number of years and held a number of responsible positions with the government.

The body is at the Dixon chapel in Costa Mesa, where funeral arrangements are pending. Efforts are being made to locate survivors.

TUSTIN WOMAN DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Martha Barker, 73, wife of Joshua Barker, of South B street in Tustin, who had resided in the Santa Ana vicinity for the last 40 years, died late yesterday at her home following a brief illness.

Mrs. Barker, who was born in Ventura, Calif., had lived in this state all her life.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Charles Van Horn, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Leslie Brown, of Merced; three sons, Walter Barker, Escondido; Fred Barker, Costa Mesa; and James A. Barker, Tustin.

Funeral services will be held at the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel, with the Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, of Tustin, in charge. Time of the services will be announced later, and burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Unless you have stored furs in a moth-proof bag, or taken other precautions ,they should be brought into the sun two or three times during the summer and beaten lightly with a cane.

11 Die In County, 3,139 In State Highway Traffic

Death in traffic in Orange county continued to mount, as the record revealed today, a total of 11 persons have died from accidents to date this year as compared with six in 1937 and seven in 1936, for the same period.

Official figures of the state motor vehicle department today placed the 1937 traffic death toll at 3139, seven in excess of the 1936 total.

STATE TO SPEND $140,000,000 FOR RELIEF

AUTHORIZED TO BALK TREND OF JOB SEEKING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—California has authorized expenditure of more than $140,000,000 for direct relief payments to combat unemployment in the last five years, State Controller Harry B. Riley said today.

Before the end of the current biennium, one year from next June, the last of this huge relief sum will have been spent.

The immense bill is exclusive of $170,000,000 in federal relief funds, not including work projects, nor does it include interest charges.

Repaying Bonds

Beginning with a $44,000,000 bond issue from which the counties borrowed in 1933, and are now repaying through annual 10 per cent deductions from their gas tax apportionment, the state ran its relief costs to the present figure with appropriations totaling $96,200,000.

Average daily relief cost now is estimated at $120,000, with the winter peak case load still to be hurdled.

Bright spot in the uncertain prospects for the future is the state unemployment insurance fund, which wil make benefit payments exceeding $30,000,000 before May 15.

Already Designated

Although comparative figures are not available, it is certain the insurance project, which contemplates payments of $10 weekly for periods not exceeding 20 weeks, will alleviate the situation to some extent. More than 125,000 already have registered for payments.

Of the relief funds expended, the state controller's office has recovered approximately $1,500,000, either from persons not eligible or from outright "chiselers" who made fraudulent representations to be placed on the rolls.

No direct federal relief grants have been made for 18 months, but California has been allotted five per cent of the total W.P.A. work projects.

P.-T. A. To Name Committee Feb. 7

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 4.—The election of the nominating committee for Westminster P.-T. A. is scheduled for next Monday evening when the organization meets at the school. Mrs. Iola Vail, second vice president of the P.-T. A., will preside. Founders' day will be observed. Special music will be on the program and refreshments will be served.

Among Those in Fashion Show Under Palms

NAME OFFICERS OF CIVIC BODY

FULLERTON, Feb. 4. — Allen Compton, manager of the Fullerton branch of Sears-Roebuck, was named president of the Fullerton Chamber of commerce at the luncheon meeting at noon Thursday at the Bit of Scandia cafe. Other officers are Richard S. Gregory, postmaster, first vice president; Howard Irwin, second vice president; Arthus McAulay, treasurer; Harry M. May, secretary.

The date of the annual meeting, which again will be a professional entertainment, and be lacking in business details and reports, has not been set, but will follow during this month the employers' dinner for employes February 16.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Feb. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Marshburn, of Yorba Linda, were hosts to the teachers of Calvary Sunday school of Placentia at a potluck supper and teachers meeting at their home Thursday night.

Members of Harold Polley's shop classes spent Tuesday in Los Angeles, traveling by school bus to the offices of Henry Wright, architect for the school building.

Dog Proficient Juggler, Using 12-Foot Board

The dog already has carried home shiplap, two-by-fours, and other pieces of lumber.

He uses them in a self-taught juggling and balancing act with which he amuses himself for hours at a time.

At present he is using a piece of shiplap 12 feet long, but will do his trick with any stick of this or greater length.

Copper lifts one end of the board in his mouth and slides his teeth along it until it balances. Then he twists his body and gives the board a little toss, maneuvering so the lumber drops on his shoulders. He shifts his position until the board balances on his shoulders and walks as far as he can without losing the load. When the board falls off, he starts all over again.

Milk Drinking Fails To Reach Ideal Moment

WASHINGTON (UP)—Per capita milk consumption in the United States is increasing, but still is below the "adequate minimum" established by the home economics bureau of the Department of Agriculture.

The bureau of agricultural economics reported milk consumption per capita in cities and villages, including cream in terms of its milk equivalent, was 38.2 gallons in 1936. This was an increase of 3.24 per cent over 1935.

The home economics bureau reports each child needs a minimum of one quart of milk a day—or 90 gallons a year — and that each adult should drink one pint a day—45 gallons a year.

Data gathered from city boards of health indicate that the greatest increase in per capita milk consumption occurred in North Central states, where 4.8 per cent more milk and cream were used in 1936 than in 1935.

The increase in the South Atlantic states was about 1 per cent, in the South Central states about 3 per cent, in the Western states about 2.6 per cent.

WILSON'S PROOF READER QUITS AFTER 29 YEARS

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—Mrs. Lina Arronet, German-born American who proof-read President Wilson's Declaration of War, has retired after 29 years as official translator for New York state governmental departments.

A master linguist—she converses fluently in seven languages and translates 15—Mrs. Arronet played an important role in acquainting Americans with President Wilson's proclamation declaring a state of war existed.

President Wilson prepared his document and turned it over to Washington linguists for translation into every language spoken by the many nationalities represented in the United States.

The translated documents were rushed under army escort to Albany and presented to Mrs. Arronet for proofreading. She began her tedious task early in the morning and finished at 11 p. m. the same night.

Two army officers waited impatiently until she had examined each document and then hastened to New York where printers immediately went to work printing the proclamation in many languages.

Today Mrs. Arronet views with tolerance the unrest and distrust spreading over the world.

"We aren't going to have another war, she said. "The people don't want another war."

She discussed working for the various governors who held office during her 29 years as a state employee.

"President Roosevelt," she recalled, "received more foreign letters than any governor but Alfred E. Smith was a close second."

She said that she translated more than 1,000 letters every six months when Mr. Roosevelt was governor.

The letters came principally from South American countries and from Cuba, she said. The Cuban correspondents, she said, often believed they were writing to Theodore Roosevelt, known to them for his exploits in the Spanish-American war.

U. S. MAINTAINS BURIAL GROUND IN MEXICO CITY

COLONIA SAN RAFAEL, Mexico City.—Here in a sequestered spot along Calzado Melchor Ocampo, on Mexican soil, is the oldest national cemetery owned and maintained by the U. S. government—older even than Washington's great Arlington.

Sleeping in the sun, marked by many rows of neat white stones, is the community of silent people. Few Americans, even those who live in Mexico City, knows that it is the oldest national cemetery.

Surrounded by a high wall, its stone-dotted greensward studded with great trees, it is an impressive and peaceful place, but one spot is more impressive than any other, that being about a stone shaft which is inscribed with the following words:

Lie In One Grave

Nameless, these 750 who lie in one grave, but among them, perhaps are many who followed Capt. Samuel Walker and Col. Jack Hayes in the regiment of Texas Rangers which, nearly a century ago, stormed Chapultepec and fought on the field of Molino del Rey.

Capt. Ernest Hippe is custodian and superintendent of America's oldest national cemetery. As the marker says, the bones were collected from the various battlefields of the American war with Mexico and buried here in 1847. They came from Contreras, Molino del Rey, Chapultepec and Mexico City.

Arlington, the great national cemetery in Washington, came into being during the Civil War, but this spot of foreign soil was bought by the U. S. government by act of Congress in 1850 and the sale was consummated in June, 1851, the government obtaining plot from the family of Manuel Lope for the sum of $3,000.

Not All Americans

Besides the 750 U. S. soldiers buried in one mound, 813 others rest under the uniform white stones under the trees. Most of them are Americans who have died in Mexico, but there are few Germans, French and Mexicans.

In one corner lie a few members of the Del Rio family, ancestors of Dolores Del Rio, the movie actress. Hippe says there has always been a tradition that among the bones of the 750 American soldiers is one Mexican—one of the cadet defenders of Chapultepec castle, a group which now holds an immortal place in Mexican history. The tradition is that his bones were mingled with those of the Americans who died in the storming of the castle.

Across a fence from the oldest U. S. national cemetery is another graveyard, its headstones dating to 1800—a corner of a foreign field that will be "Forever England."

An eagle in Mesa Verde National Park carried a yowling bobcat more than 1000 feet into the air and dropped it. The cat was killed instantly. Its body is on exhibition at the park.

Discuss Drive for Lower-Priced Beef

Governor Merriam consults with E. V. Graham representing the cattlemen and feeders of Arizona and California regarding their plans and campaign to bring lower beef prices to the housewife. The cattlemen of this section also are pointing out the fact that western grain-fed beef is the equal in tenderness and flavor of Kansas City or Eastern beef.

SPRINGDALE

SPRINGDALE, Feb. 4.—Miss Jeanne Ruoff spent Sunday at home from Santa Barbara State Teachers' college. She was accompanied by Angelo Serarrio, a student at the college, and his cousin, Louis Garera, a visitor from Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pratt have with them as a house guest, Mr. Pratt's aunt, Mrs. Lydia Henley, of Minnesota. Mr. Pratt's niece, Mrs. Alberta Smith, and family, of Los Angeles, were entertained recently by Mr. and Mrs. Pratt.

The condition of Mrs. Zine Crane, who has ben confined at her home by illness for some time, remains unchanged.

Mrs. Lillian Doerty, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Clifford, and James Kelso, of Hollywood, were Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Roberson. Mrs. George Darrett, Ohio friend of Mrs. Roberson, who has spent the past week with her, accompanied the party to Hollywood upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duc and sister, Mrs. Rose Lambert, and granddaughter, Charlene Herrick spent two days in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Eucke, of Lynwood, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips.

Mrs. A. M. Stephenson, of Laguna Beach, aunt of Mrs. Charles Applebury, is spending several days as a house guest of the Applebury's.

Leo McLaughlin and a group of relatives visited here recently. Included were Mrs. Dow and son, Mack Dow, and Miss Gertrude Keileen.

TOLEDO LABOR TROUBLE WANES

TOLEDO. — (UP) — Toledoans still are proud of the "batting average of their industrial peace plan.

The plan, through its mediation board, settled 70 of 84 labor disputes in which the board participated during the first 10 months of 1937.

Of the 70 disputes compromised to a peaceful conclusion, 58 were free of strikes and lock-outs, although strikes had been threatened in 18 cases.

In contrast to Toledo's industrial strife prior to inauguration of the peace plan in July, 1935, civic leaders emphasized that only one labor dispute gained public attention outside Toledo in the first 10 months of last year. They said that the case was a minor, short-lived argument between a Committee for Industrial Organization union and an independent union.

The Toledo Industrial Peace Plan established a mediation board. It was fathered by Edward F. McGrady, former labor conciliator of the Department of Labor.

He suggested creation of "A composite forum, representing the community, to which either side can bring its grievances and which shall be of such repute and dignity that much trouble can be avoided."

Today, the board's membership consists of five representatives of labor, five representatives of management and eight "public members."

In 1936, during its first full year of operation, the mediation board settled 28 cases, including 12 strikes and three threatened walkouts.

Joseph K. Close, head of the Toledo Associates, civic group, stated in a recent article in Business Week that the peace plan still must meet many problems, including the rivalry between labor groups themselves.

He said that early settlement of individual disputes should not be expected in every instance and that experience has indicated preliminary details in a settlement should be "worked out without fanfare or publicity."

The board cost the city an estimated $6950 during 1937. But Toledo citizens believed that expenditure more than repaid itself in the dividends of comparative labor peace.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Feb. 4.—Members of Miss Dorothy Tully's dramatics class at Newport Harbor Union High school attended the performance of "Mary, Queen of Scots," Thursday evening at Fullerton District Junior college presented by students of Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield.

Attending the meeting of the Arts and Crafts section of the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon club Tuesday at the clubhouse were Mrs. L. B. Smalley, Mrs. S. A. Meyer, Mrs. W. G. Walker, Mrs. M. J. Fickas, Mrs. N. O. Mellott, Mrs. Marvin Wilcox, Mrs. C. G. Huston, Mrs. W. B. Murbarger, and Mrs. A. B. Craig.

New members have been invited to attend the meeting of the Harriet Siegfried Underwood Choristers Monday evenings at the music room of the Newport Harbor Union High school. Miss Margaret Scharle has been obtained as accompanist for the group.

Oil of geranium, menthol, lavender, or eucalyptus rubbed on the exposed parts of the skin will prevent mosquito bites. Boracic, in lotion or powder form, has a weaker effect, but it is in wide use.

PHOENIX FIVE HERE TONIGHT: DONS FAVORED

With their newly acquired sparkplug, Art Hienish, in the lineup, Santa Ana's junior college cagers will be heavily favored to trounce the invading Phoenix jaysee barnstormers tonight in Andrews gymnasium. Game-time is 8 o'clock.

Coach George (Dutch) Hoy's team from Arizona dropped its first three starts against Eastern conference competition. The invaders lost to San Bernardino 49-27 Monday night, to Riverside 39-19 Wednesday night to Fullerton jaysee last night.

Three lettermen and two freshmen—one from Minnesota and the other from Kansas—make up the Phoenix first string. Jack Lindstrum is considered the dead-eye of the squad, although Lew Conner, letterman forward, is the high point artist. Lindstrum had a 22-point average last year. The Phoenix players are not particularly rangy, only Connor being over six feet in height.

Probable lineups:

Santa Ana		Phoenix
Art Hienish	F.	Jack Lindstrum
Charles Hall	F.	Earl Howard
Cy Leivermann	C.	Lew Connor
Del Holan	G	Clarence Wilcutt
Verne Rutledge	G.	Don Gatchel

Valencia	0	3	.000

Tonight's Games

San Juan Capistrano at Tustin; Brea-Olinda at Valencia; Laguna Beach at Garden Grove.

Last bar to another Tustin basketball championship in the Orange league, Gil Strother's "dark horse" quintet from San Juan Capistrano battles the Southern California prep titlist tonight in Stanley gym at Tustin.

Given no chance at the first of the season, the Cougars are only a game out of first place and can come close to cinching a place in the C. I. F. playoffs by upsetting Coach Bill Cole's favored five.

Cold dope gives Tustin the edge. Capistrano's lone defeat (20-18) was by Laguna Beach, a team Tustin "took" 24-6. Another common foe was Valencia, defeated by Tustin 35-15 and by Capistrano 41-23.

High scorers of the team are Ev Winkler, Tustin center, who has made 33 points in three games; Ed Stoddard, Cougar forward, and Lilley, forward.

Clinging to a mathematical chance, Garden Grove is favored over Laguna Beach. Brea-Olinda is expected to dispose of Valencia, playing its last game under the guidance of Coach Clarence Bishop, who joins the Santa Barbara high school staff Monday.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most devitalizingly so, as attested by even his most bitter rivals. Yesterday was merely another one of those rare exceptions which but prove the rule when his astute plays, Lynbilly and No Dice, failed to score.

CHICK UNMASKS BLACK DRAGON

BY PAUL VISSMAN

Dude Chick, assisted by Referee Jack Allen, unmasked the "Black Dragon" last night as a climax to the wrestling card at the Orange County Athletic club. They might better have put the mask right back on for, believe it or not the Dragon is no Robert Taylor.

For those fans who hazarded guesses as to his identity—guesses that ranged from Frankenstein, Dracula and a bad attack of the Heebie Jeebies down to the Skeleton in the Closet—he was identified as Paul Buzzell.

The unmasking was attended by another "near riot" that always accompanies the Dragon's appearance here. Strange as it seems, the Little Old Man, who generally leads the riots, was missing last night but the riot went on just the same. Maybe Sam Sampson did not include the Little Old Man in the lease sold to "Bud" Levin, the new promoter.

Chick took the first fall in 10:34 with a body scissors. The second fall went to the Dragon on a "Boston crab" after 6:51 minutes of fouling that brought the fans howling down to ringside. The third went to Chick in 3:22 with an airplane spin that left the Dragon dizzy—or dizzier.

Yukon Jake, a slightly whamwacky lad from Alaska cooled off Al Westcott, another fist-fuddled boy, in 10:26.

APOSTOLI AND LEE BATTLE AT GARDEN

NEW YORK — (UP) — Freddy Apostoli and Glen Lee fight tonight in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden that may determine the next middleweight champion of the world.

With its significance, this fight carries the promise of being a real, old-fashioned Pier Six brawl between two guys who don't know how to back up. Apostoli, "belting bellhop" from San Francisco, who has been called uncrowned king of the division since he knocked out Champion Freddie Steel, is an 8-5 favorite to tame the Edison, Neb. "wildcat."

The winner is virtually assured of a title shot at Steel this summer, and the champion will be the underdog regardless of which one he faces.

Tonight's Games

Orange at Anaheim; Newport Harbor at Huntington Beach; Jordan at Excelsior.

Saving the best for the last, high school basketeers of Orange and Anaheim fight it out in Anaheim tonight for the Sunset league championship and the privilege of contesting for the Southern California prep title. The contest closes the official league schedule.

Orange's Class B team, playing a preliminary game, can finish ahead of Huntington Beach in its division by defeating the Anaheim lightweights.

Rated along with Tustin as the best prep fives in the county, Orange has won 16 out of 18 starts and Anaheim 8 out of 15, the Colonists playing slightly tougher competition.

Against common opponents, their records parallel closely. Orange beat Corona 19-17 and 31-18; Anaheim's margin was 16-14 and 38-34. Orange beat Excelsior 3918 to Anaheim's 27-18. Orange won from Huntington Beach 32-18, a trick Anaheim turned 36-16.

Coach "Hod" Chambers picks Dick Gunther and Hank Martinez, forwards; Bob Schildmeyer, center, and Ray Amling and Vernon Worden, guards, to start the titular affair. Coach Dick Glover of Anaheim will use Chauncy Woodrome and Keith Beebe, forwards; Gene Montgomery, center, and "Bud" Fassel and Jim Nunez, guards.

STANFORD FAVORED OVER U. C. CAGEMEN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY—(UP)—Stanford University's defending champions were favored today to defeat California's divisional-leading basketball team when the two clash tonight in the Stanford gymnasium.

Although California has won all five of its starts in the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference, Stanford's high-powered scoring exhibition against U. C. L. A. and the home-flor advantage made the Cardinals the favorites.

Stanford has a record of three wins and two defeats in conference play. One of the setbacks came in the first California-Stanford game, played at Berkeley.

FULLERTON JAYSEE VANQUISHES PHOENIX

FULLERTON — Phoenix junior college's barnstorming Bears dropped a 56 to 32 decision to Fullerton's Yellowjackets here last night. Captain Andy Echle and Tom Keesey paced the Yellowjackets with 11 points each, while Lou Connor, Phoenix center, rang up 10.

Les McLennan Quits Dons for Wash. State

Cougar officials put the pressure on the Dons' crack gridder last week and he quietly packed his suitcases yesterday, saying good-bye only to a few of his closest friends. McLennan came to Santa Ana from Escondido high school, where he had been an all-around athlete in football, track and baseball.

While not yet definitely admitted, it was generally understood today that "Rusty" Roquet, the Don's all-Eastern conference tackle, for the past two years, would be a Trojan when the second semester starts at U.S.C. next week. Roquet has completed his eligibility in jaysee football but McLennan had another season.

AT THE TRACKS

TODAY'S SELECTIONS

1—Nigrette, The Bailiff, Valina.
3—Extra Special, Gallery God, Remarkable.
4—Dauber, Liberty Flight, Kumreigh.
5—Royal Reigh, Boston Brook Kievson.
6—a-Trent, Sky Rhonda, Lloyd Pan.
7—Wild Turkey, Wegoway, Invermark.
8—Rare Ben, Torquil, Erla. Best—Wild Turkey.

With Tiger a doubtful starter, chances of a fast track blasted by continued rain, the $5000 San Vincente Handicap tomorrow has all the earmarks of a wide open skirmish for the 3-year-old hopefuls at Santa Anita. On a fast track, it probably would have established the favorite for the $50,000 Derby, but now, with several topliners on the doubtful list, it becomes merely a seven-furlong test on an off track.

Sun Egret, two-time stages winner at the meeting, a slashing mudder, may rule the favorite. He carries 125 pounds, one less than Tiger was slated to haul, and he runs coupled as an entry with Legal Light.

Trainers were awaiting track conditions before definitely making up their mind about starting their charges.

Among the probable starters from which the field will be drawn include Can't Wait, Sortie's Son, Lassator, Short Notice, Stagehand, Indian Lodge, Gipsy Minstrel, King's Heir, Rommy, Liberty Scout, Gallator, Alaskan and Roy T.

Jockey George Woolf, one of America's best riders, was signed this morning to ride Neil McCarthy's Today in the Santa Anita Handicap. Woolf was to have had the mount on Heelfly but this star was withdrawn.

Today, making a come-back, has been training exceptionally well and has done everything asked of him to date. He probably will make his debut next week on a dry track, as he is up to a race now.

He was a star 3-year-old two years ago but spread his foot and was shelved. His most notable triumph, earned in the C. V. Whitney silks, was a victory over Omaha in the Wood Memorial. Trainer Hurst Philpot has been bringing him along carefully and Today has a number of excellent trials to his credit.

Should Woolf win with him, it will make two Santa Anita Handicaps to his credit, as he rode Azucar to victory in the first running of the rich stake.

The National Association of State Racing Commissioners is advocating a decrease in the number of 2-year-old races offered in the early part of the year, suggesting that not more than four a week be carded. It likewise suggests that these affairs be confined to the sheaper juveniles.

In England and France there is marked conservation of young horses, five starts being about the limit. This wisdom of the practice is reflected in a better 3-year-old and older division and less unsoundness among the thoroughbreds.

Another suggestion offered by the association is to raise the weight scale. As Racing Secretary Jack Campbell, the top man in the business, once remarked, "There is nothing wrong with the present scale, except no one uses it."

Don-Bruin Frosh Rugby Match Off

Bad weather and mid-semester examination and enrollment period will prevent Santa Ana junior college from playing a scheduled rugby game in the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow. The Dons were to have met the U.C.L.A. freshmen in a preliminary to the U.C. L.A.-Stanford varsity encounter. Coach Ernest Butterworth said Compton jaysee will play Santa Ana here next Friday night.

S. C. CAGERS MEET LOYOLA, CLUB TEAM

LOS ANGELES.—Although the games have no bearing on their conference standing, the Trojans of Southern California engage in a pair of fast basketball contests this week end when they will meet Loyola tonight and the Los Angeles Athletic club tomorrow night in the Pan-Pacific auditorium.

BOXING TO BE REVIVED HERE BY EX-MATMAN

The Orange County Athletic club on Highway 101, haven of the district's wrestling and boxing fans, was sold by Promoter Sam Sampson today to Melvin (Bud) Levin, a former wrestler.

Last night's mat show was Sampson's fadeout. Levin will have charge next week; only the concessions remain under Sampson's control. Tige Clinton, who has been acting as Sampson's matchmaker, will continue his connection with the arena as publicity director.

Levin proposes no immediate changes although he outlines an ambitious schedule for the future. One of his ideas is to re-establish boxing, perhaps professionally, by early summer. He believes Orange county large enough to support boxing as well as wrestling, with weekly programs in each.

Sale No Surprise

Sale of the O. C. A. C. has been imminent for several weeks, it being known that several different promoters were interested and that Sampson was in a mood to do business. Morrie Cohen of Pasadena was said to have made an offer and Nick Lutze, the wrestler, was another bidder. Levin arrived here several days ago and closed the deal at once. He has established residence in Santa Ana and intends to make this his permanent home.

About 30, Levin met all of the "name" grapplers in the country while he was active from 1927 to 1933. He once wrestled Dick Shikat for the heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden, an outstanding match that brought out a $40,000 house. He battled such fellows as John Pesek, Joe Stecher, the Duseks, Everett Marshall, Pat O'Shocker, Bhu Pinder, Dick Daviscourt and Joe Cox.

When he retired from active competition, Levin turned to the business end and in the past several years has been a partner of Tony Stecher in promoting at Omaha, Minneapolis, Duluth, Des Moines and Kansas City.

Hollywood Tie-Up Continues

Here Levin will be closely associated with Hugh Nichols of Hollywood and will continue to schedule light heavyweights. Nichols' troupe now books in 63 cities throughout the country and is said to be outdrawing the old "trust" grapplers almost everywhere.

Sampson, who entered the promotional game in 1932 by buying out H. T. Foust when the Orange County Athletic club was located at Delhi, will devote his entire attention to his thriving adverising business at Long Beach. It is understood that Mrs. Sampson will be in charge of the O. C. A. C. concessions.

AL'S AND BRETHREN WIN GAMES AT 'Y'

The first forfeited game of the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. league marked the windup of the fifth week of the schedule last night.

Montgomery Ward, after using an assertedly ineligible player in the first half, forfeited to Al's Lock and Key Shop in the second half with the score 28-26 in favor of Al's. The Church of the Brethren swamped Excelsior Creamery, 33-18. Lineups:

Tonight's Games

Santa Ana at Chaffey; Redlands at San Bernardino; Riverside at Pomona.

Citrus Belt league basketball teams begin the second-half of their schedule tonight, with Santa Ana's unperdictable Saints gunning for an upset victory over the race-leading Chaffey Tigers at Ontario.

Redlands, tied on top with Chaffey (and Santa Ana's opposition next week) plays at San Bernardino. Riverside invades Pomona.

Joe Koegler, coach of the in-and-out Saints, hopes this is the turn for his club to be "hot." They gave Chaffey a tough time of it here early last month so Koegler thinks they have a chance to spring one of the season's biggest surprises.

"There isn't a lot of difference between any of the Citrus Belt teams," explains Coach Koegler. "Anything can happen in these games. We still have an outside chance for the championship."

Chaffey beat Santa Ana 33-20 in the first game, going away in the last quarter after the Saints had pulled up to 21-18 in the third period. The Tigers run to height, all their players being taller than Santa Ana's except Melvin Barron at center. Pete Partida and Gene O'Campo start at forward with Barron, Larry Tway replacing the graduated Marvin Webb at one guard with Maurice Young at the other.

The contest pairs up the conference's two high scorers in O'Campo and Chaffey's Bob Latimer, center. Only three points separate the first six point-makers at the end of the first-half. Leading scorers:

Player	Pts.

SANTA ANA-VIRGINIA GOLF MATCH CARDED

A 20-man golf team from the Santa Ana Country club will invade Long Beach Sunday for an inter-club match with Virginia Country club, beginning at 1 p. m. This will be a home-and-home event that precedes official play in the Southern California league. Virginia's squad plays here a week from Sunday.

S. BERNARDINO BACK IN FOLD FOR '38 RACE

The turbulent National Night Ball league launched another "new deal" today with James H. (Jimmie) Heffron, dean of Orange county's sports writers, in the driver's seat.

Heffron, sports editor of the Anaheim Bulletin for many years, was elected president at last night's semi-annual meeting in Garden Grove. He succeeds Walter Wentz, who held office three years, and bowed out the same fine sportsman he came in—wishing the league the best of everything and ill feelings toward none.

Far from an avowed candidate for the position, Heffron today said he "saw no particular reason why he should accept the post," but withheld a final refusal until after he had conferred with a National league committee that was to wait on him and officially advise him of his election. Club managers expressed the opinion he could be "talked in" to the job, which pays $250 annually.

Rodgers Named Vice President

Joe Rodgers, Huntington Beach's firebrand manager, was elected vice president to succeed the ailing John Wilcox of Santa Ana, who will be inactive this season. Lee McClelland of Olive was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Eddie West, sports editor of the Santa Ana Register, again was named official scorer.

Possibility of an eight-team pennant race for 1938 was advanced with the definite announcement of Manager Howard Bard that

Reveals How "Little Bills" Grow

Few housewives have seen any of the old-style, bulky dollar bills since they were discontinued a few years ago. Yet, they will be pleased to know that the present small-size dollar bill is at least one-half again as large as the old one in purchasing power . . . if they buy certain brands of high-grade canned foods, food officials declared today. "A trip through any grocery store brings home the welcome news that when it comes to buying these canned foods, today's dollar actually buys $1.50 worth, as compared with only $1.00 in 1929, or even in the "normal price" year of 1926! In other words, today's dollar will buy homemakers half again as much right now as it did in previous years, if they are careful to select quality lines such as the S & W fine foods brand," executives of the latter firm said.

"Thrifty housewives already have discovered that the low prices now prevailing for every kind of high-grade canned products, from beets to coffee, give them an effective way to combat the higher prices for many other things. By switching a considerably larger share of their food dollars into such quality canned lines as S & W, they can continue to serve delicious, healthfully - balanced meals to their families . . . and stay well within their regular budgets!"

GAME REFUGES GIVE U. S. NEW WILD LIFE ERA

WASHINGTON, (UP)—America is being restored to the hunters' paradise of a hundred years ago under an expanded Federal wildlife conservation program, according to Department of Agriculture officials.

They described the program, calling for expenditure of approximately $5,000,000 a year, "epoch making in the history of wildlife conservation." Game animals, fish and fowl are being afforded refuge and protection.

The program was begun on an expanded scale in 1933 and is not yet half complete. Hundreds of new game and fish refuges have been established in every part of the country. The Biological Survey and the Soil Conservation Service are cooperating in the program.

Vast Acreage Set Aside

Since July, 1931, the Biological Survey has purchased 1,500,000 acres to be converted into wildlife sanctuaries. In the same period more than 4,000,000 acres of public land were reserved by executive orders as refuges.

The Survey has established about 250 refuges comprising 11,500,000 acres. If that amount 7,000,000 acres are in the United States and 4,500,000 acres in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. When completed the program will include about 20,000,000 acres.

Public cooperation and more stringent game laws are necessary if the wildlife restoration program is to succeed, Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, Chief of the Survey, said. Private as well as public lands must be made attractive to wildlife, he believes.

"There is no magic way," Gabrielson said, "to restore the new and former breeding grounds for waterfowl. Either an increasing number of birds must be allowed to return each spring or the sport of duck hunting will vanish. The necessity for severe restrictions on hunting has not passed."

The Soil Conservation Service is cooperating by providing additional cover and feeding grounds. Under the service's program 83,975 acres of land were planted to trees and protected by fencing, providing a haven for wildlife.

The Civilian Conservation Corps has established 10,813 feeding stations in areas where winter makes wildlife survival difficult. Hundreds of water-conserving and controling structures also have been built, and trails and buildings improved.

State agricultural conservation offices, in cooperation with the Biological Survey, distribute thousands of bushels of cracked corn each winter in areas where snow makes feeding difficult. Rural mail carriers distribute much of the corn during regular mail delivery trips.

Department of Agriculture officials attribute much of the increased interest in wildlife conservation to the work of J. N. "Ding" Darling, the cartoonist, as chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey in 1934 and 1935.

Others have carried on the fight begun by Darling. He urged broader state-federal cooperation and the 1939 agriculture budget provides $1,000,000 added Federal aid to states for wildlife restoration.

Darling fought for an expanded program of Federal refuges. Last year the survey purchased 600,000 acres for establishment or expansion of 70 refuges in 32 states. Options were obtained on another 500,000 acres.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, in paying tribute to the work of Darling, said:

"Now we know that there is cash income for many in wildlife, there is sport for many more, there is quiet enjoyment for millions and millions of others, and there is now a secure place for wildlife conservation in our developing national program of wise land use."

WAHLBERG TO TALK TUESDAY

Harold E. Wahlberg, county Farm Advisor, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Anaheim Farm Center at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Anaheim high school, it was announced today by Herman H. Freese, president.

Report Planned

Motion pictures of local farm people, taken by Eric Eastman, San Diego Farm Advisor, and a travelogue of Germany will follow the semi-potluck dinner.

A. J. Schutt will give a report of the activities of the board of directors in the business session of the meeting.

Forest fires burned more than 52,000,000 acres in the United States in 1930. This is an area larger than that of the combined states of Indiana and Ohio.

Sheppard Signs Indian Bill

Chairman Harry R. Sheppard signs approval to House sub-committee report on California Indians Jurisdictional bill, which will end 85-year dispute between Indians and white men over California lands. Seated left Congressman Nan Honeyman (Oregon); chairman Indian sub-committee, Harry R. Sheppard (California); Congressman Anthony J. Dimond (Alaska); standing Stella Von Bulow (California Mission Indian representative) and Chief Two Bear, Sioux representative who aided California Indians.

HARVEY BARES INVESTIGATION AT POSTOFFICE

Confiscation of hundreds of lottery tickets by postal authorities in Santa Ana was revealed at the postoffice today.

The confiscated tickets were sent through the mail from Cuba, France and Canada. All the letters suspected of containing contraband lottery tickets are marked "Supposed to Contain Lottery Tickets" when they pass through the United States Exchange office at the port of entry for mail.

Must Show Contents

Received at the office of address, according to Len Harvey, superintendent of mails, the letters are turned over to the carriers for delivery. The addressee is required to open the letter in the presence of the carrier and if it contains lottery tickets, turn them over to the post office representative.

Harvey said that while he has no accurate check of the number of contraband tickets confiscated here, it will run well into the hundreds. Each day the tickets confiscated are turned over to the dead letter department.

Requests Remittances

Persons to whom the tickets are addressed face no penalty, according to Harvey as in the majority of cases they had not purchased them, the tickets being sent with the request that the purchase price be remitted.

In spite of the fact that hundreds of the tickets have been confiscated and are being confiscated daily additional hundreds are finding their way into the city, according to authorities. By devious methods they are sent to agents for the lotteries who distribute them.

Letters Swamp Register Office

REGISTER 'PULLING-POWER' IS GREAT AID TO S. A. MERCHANTS

Does it pay to advertise in The Register?

A glance at the accompanying picture is the answer.

Hundreds More Arrive

Scores of letters were brought to The Register last night and the above picture shows the pile of letters that came in on the first mail this morning. Later mails brought hundreds of other letters and hundreds more were brought in The Register during the day.

FIRE RUSHED TO FIREMEN

ELYRIA, O. (UP)—"Your truck is on fire," shouted pedestrians as Dennis Robison sped through the downtown streets. "I know it," he yelled. "I'm on my way to the fire station."

OFFICIAL VISITS LODGE

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 4.—District Grand Master Elmer Webber of Anaheim paid his official visit to Westminster Odd Fellows lodge Wednesday evening. The visitors included William Peterkin, district deputy commander; Bob Evans, Roy Poelock, C. Nelson, W. Winterrowd, Rudolph Swenson, R. V. Reede, W. Webb, D. Lyete.

Hosts were Dick Arnett, noble Grand; H.H.Hall, Charles C. Murdy, Frank Van Uden, Harry Mansperger, Ross Fogler, James Pierce and J. O. Pyle.

Wisconsin Group To Frolic Soon

All who ever lived in Wisconsin are invited to meet for the annual picnic reunion, all day Saturday, February 12 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. There will be county registers and headquarters and a brief program.

President Robert A. Block and V. P. Mark F. Jones will be in charge of the events of the day.

All the tourists and visitors from the old home state as well as our residents are invited. Good lunches are sold in the park. Coffee will be provided.

Sir John Millais painted Lily Langtry with a Jersey lily in her hand and gave the painting the name of "The Jersey Lily"; the name later was applied to the famous actress.

SOLONS SIGN INDIAN BILL

California Indians will have achieved he goal sought for 85 years when the bill, recently reported out favorably by the Committee on Indian Affairs in the House of Representatives soon becomes law.

The bill was reported out favorably after a sub-committee of three congressmen, headed by Harry R. Sheppard of the 19th California district, held public hearings. In addition to Sheppard other members of the sub-committee were: Congresswoman Nan Wood Honeyman of Oregon and Anthony J. Dimond of Alaska.

Based on Treaties

Sheppard introduced the bill originated by the California Indians Rights association, calling for a recovery exclusively for Indians. The claim of the California Indians goes back 85 years to the original 18 treaties entered into between the federal government and the California Indians, which provided that the government should pay the Indians for certain lands which the Indians in turn, relinquished to the government.

The present bill will give the Indians more than double what is possible under the present jurisdictional act (of 1928). In addition to its increased basis for recovery it has closed all avenues for deductions for attorneys fees for handling the case in the court of claims.

BAIRD NAMED ON U.S. BOARD

Burton O. Baird, Santa Ana postal clerk, today was named a permanent member of the United States civil service board in Santa Ana, according to information to The Register.

Confirmation of the permanent appointment was made by the United States civil service commission, the appointment giving the Democrats a majority on the three-man board. The second Democrat board member is John Cleary, while Frank Cannon, postal clerk and secretary of the board, is the Republican member.

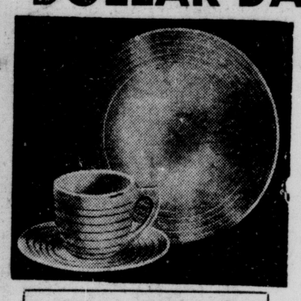

Permanent Appointment

Baird has been serving as temporary member of the board since November and was recommended for the permanent appointment by Field Examiner J. C. Beck, 12th civil service district.

Harry Kranz, 12th district manager, of San Francisco, made the permanent appointment with approval of the United States civil service board.

MISS PERKINS OPPOSES BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, in a statement to the senate commerce committee, today opposed the labor provisions of the pending maritime bill.

Miss Perkins declined to comment on testimony which she was to give in executive session concerning labor department inquiry into the citizenship status of Harry Bridges, west coast Committee for Industrial Oraganization leader.

"I say frankly that I think that it would be a mistake to enact this bill or anything like it into law," Miss Perkins said.

The bill contains labor provisions which would apply mediation and arbitration principles of the railway labor act to the maritime industry.

Gives Reasons

Miss Perkins said that conditions in the railway and shipping industry are not similar.

"Instead of enacting this bill into law," Miss Perkins said, "a more constructive policy would be to let the present developments continue without interference by any such governmental action as this bill proposes."

Miss Perkins said that the National Labor Relations Board could continue to hold elections to determine collective bargaining agencies among rival unions and that the maritime commission can "help a great deal by encouraging and promoting the practices and procedures of collective bargaining among he shipping companies."

"I would recommend, therefore, that we permit the present promising developments to continue to work themselves out," she said.

Will Learn Lesson

"In a few years both the managements and the men and their organizations will have gained the experience necessary for proper maintenance and administration of labor agreements and of the labor adjustment machinery that these agreements set up.

"They will have learned to maintain discipline and responsibility in their organizations. When this has been achieved to an extent that approximates the labor relations that prevailed on the roads at the time that the railway labor act was enacted in 1926, then the time will be ripe for enacting a law similar to this bill for the shipping industry."

Turning to the differences between the railway and maritime industries, Miss Perkins said:

Not Ready For Bill

"The employes (maritime) are not fully organized and the employers are not convinced that collective bargaining is a good thing. Many of them do not want to deal with unions.

"Only a part of the industry is covered by agreements, and many of these are of recent date. Both management and employes still have to learn how to administer these agreements so they will promote the interests of both and develop mutual understandings and friendly relations.

"The attempts of the employers to interfere with employes' right to organize are numerous, and strikes for the protection of employes and their organizations are frequent.

"Under these circumstances, it is quite impossible to deal with the problem of unfair labor practices as the railway labor act does."

RECORDS SHOW BEER FAVORED OVER WINE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Californians favored beer over wine in 1937, state board of equalization figures indicated today.

Beer consumption, compared with 1936 figures, increased slightly, the board reported, while wine gallonage was below last year's total.

Income from these sources was approximately the same for both years the board said, because of a rate adjustment made by the last legislature.

Boy Wages Losing Battle With Death

MESA, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Jack Shill, 17-year-old high school athlete, fighting for his life inside Arizona's new "iron lung," waged what appeared to be a losing battle today.

Hospital attendants said the youth, almost completely paralyzed by Landry's paralysis, was "very low" and "sinking fast." He was stricken two weeks ago.

WHEN IT'S ROUNDUP TIME IN TEXAS, TOM WILL BE IN JAIL

When it's roundup time in Texas, Thomas Anderson, 33, college graduate and chemist of Forney, Texas, and confessed writer of fictitious checks, will be sitting in the Orange county jail.

Anderson, who told Presiding Judge James L. Allen in criminal court this morning that he wrote checks to keep his wife and baby from starving "after the welfare department had refused to help me because I was a non-resident of California", was granted probation for two years, providing he spend one year in the county jail.

Plea of Guilty

According to Anderson's story he started writing checks because he could not find work with which to provide for his wife and children and another baby that was born Feb. 1 of this year. The baby was born after Anderson was incarcerated in the county jail.

He pleaded guilty to cashing two checks, one for $51.48 and another for $6.70 but admitted to probation officers that he had cashed worthless checks amounting to approximately $400 in Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Long Beach and other cities.

COMFORTS OF HOME PROVIDED AT CAMP

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(UP)—Transient laborers and their families who trek to the Salt River Valley to pick cotton or work in the lettuce fields soon will be able to find shelter in a government camp here, it was announced today.

J. A. Waldron, state adminstrator of the farm security administration, said a $120,000 federal allocation was made in Washington yesterday for construction of a transient labor camp for 300 families.

Modern sanitation, electric lights, pure water, tent platforms and a public health nurse for child clinics will be furnished, Waldron said.

It will be the first such camp in Arizona. Five were built in California last fall by the F.S.A.

MRS. M'LAGLEN TO PAY 1934 BACK TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The board of tax appeals records disclosed today Mrs. Victor McLaglen, Fairhaven, Calif., has agreed to pay a 1934 income tax deficiency of $1103.

The government originally asserted a deficiency of $1977 after disallowing deductions made for publicity, valet, wardrobe, cleaning, automobile expenses and other items.

ONE MAN AUDIENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. — (UP)—At 4:29 p. m. yesterday Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, was filibustering. The only other Senator in the chamber was the presiding officer, Sen. William H. Smathers, D., N. J., who dozed in his chair.

SLIGHTLY OVER-DONE

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Frank Janecka sued his wife for divorce in superior court today, charging that for the past month she has prepared nothing for his daily meals except Knedlicky and Zely—Dumplings and cabbage.

NIPPON PLANES IN ATTACK ON CANTON

and was turned back by the boom. When the ship returned here, passengers described bombing on both sides of the river and said they saw a formation of 30 Japanese planes flying inland.

They reported that a Japanese plane had been shot down by anti-aircraft guns south of the city.

Every precaution was taken against any attempt at disorder. Soldiers patroled all streets. One foreign diplomat was stopped five times within 10 blocks.

Rumors of every sort flashed through the city—the most tangible one that there had been an attempt to assassinate Mayor Chung Yuen-To. Shots were heard in the Tungshan district and a bullet penetrated the steel-shuttered window of a Japanese resident's home. It was generally believed that the shots were fired by men involved in a plot to rise against Canton authorities.

Information was difficult to obtain because Chinese officials for the present were unapproachable.

Fleeing Ships Blocked

An urgent air raid alarm started at 1 a.m. At 7 a.m. there was a series of alarms. Several groups of Japanese planes were sighted in the south and west suburbs and bomb detonations were so severe that they rocked gunboats in the river.

Three British ships and one Portuguese river steamer left the city this morning, after the deadline for evacuation of Canton by foreign shipping. They had almost reached the mouth of the river when a Chinese government launch informed them that the new protective boom already had been built across the river and that it was impassable.

Encampment Fete Is Public Event

Laurel Encampment is making tomorrow night's installation of officers at 8 o'clock in I.O.O.F. hall, open to the public, and a large crowd is expected to greet the official visit of Grand Patriarch Walter Richter of Ripon, Calif., chief executive of the Encampment, and the grand master of the subordinate lodge, Harry Farr of San Diego.

In addition to those two distinguished guests, the Encampment will entertain Deputy Grand Patriarch McMaier of Whittier who will act as installing officer in the evening ritual. Special entertainment will follow installation.

Nelson Inquest Set for Monday

Inquest into the death of A. L. Nelson, 71, of Los Angeles, father of Mrs. Carl M. Stein of 2133 Greenleaf, Santa Ana, will be held today.

Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, Monday. Interment will be made at Forest Lawn cemetery.

HORSE A. W. O. L.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. — (UP) — Patrolman John Delano's horse went to the theater last night. Delano tethered his mount in an areaway next to the Fulton theater while he went to dinner. When he returned he found the horse in the cellar. No one knew how it got there.

MAN PICKETS BROTHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. — (UP) — Ben Hazelcorn was brought before a magistrate for picketing an automobile shop and carrying a sign which read: "Sam Hazelcorn is unfair to his brother." Ben explained that Sam had fired him. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

FOUR ANSWER BEFORE COURT

Andy Rios, who volunteered to return to Mexico, was granted probation for 15 years today by Presiding Judge James L. Allen in superior court, providing he submit to deportation. As a term of probation, Rios must have his fingerprints and photograph registered at every port of entry and remain in Mexico for 15 years.

Stay of execution was granted until April 1, or until after the trial of Robert Ruiz, who is accused jointly with Rios of burglarizing a store of a quantity of beer.

Year In Jail

Samuel Singletary, former Marine, was given probation on a non-support charge, for a period of two years providing he spend one year in the county jail and work at the county park. He will receive $1.25 per day for his work, the money to be turned over to Singletary's former wife for support of their child.

Robert Elliott and Robert W. Easton, pleaded guilty to burglarizing a service station at 1302 South Main street on January 2. Arraignment of the pair on a charge of burglarizing a service station at Olinda on the same night, was continued until Feb. 11. Elliott and Easton asked probation on the first accusation and will have their hearing Feb. 18.

Waves Wash Body Ashore Near S. D.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—A human body, so badly decomposed it was impossible, immediately, to determine whether it was that of a man or woman, was washed ashore directly behind the Ocean Beach police station here today.

Deputy Coroner Dave Gershon said the body apparently had been in the water more than 2 months, discounting a theory, advanced at first, that it might have been that of one of the 7 men lost when a navy patrol bomber disappeared at sea January 5.

An effort will be made to establish identity through dental charts, Gershon said.

Beach City Club Holds Luncheon

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 4.—Members of the Three Link club, an affiliate of the Rebekah lodge, showered Mrs Emeline Lewis with gifts of various kinds of aprons when she was hostess at an exchange luncheon at her home at 914 Olive avenue Wednesday.

The afternoon was devoted to visiting and piecing a quilt to be used for some worthy family. The next party will be held in March at the home of Mrs. L. V. Buckner, 315 Eighth street. A cohostess will be Mrs. Grace Moranville.

Attending were Mesdames Clara Malone, Bertha Criley, Lola Nutt, Ada Dawsey, Frances McCormick, J. Porter, Pearl Jones, Gertrude Catching, L. V. Buckner, Grace Moranville, Harriett Dowty, Nola Godfrey and the hostess.

Dog Owners At Laguna Warned

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 4.—Doomsday looms for unlicensed dogs February 15, according to Poundmaster Fred Walters, who yesterday reminded all dog owners of their personal responsibility for untagged animals, pointing out that summons would be forthcoming for proprietors of pups lacking tags, dated 1938.

ABBEY REQUEST GRANTED

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel this morning granted the petition of Public Administrator Earl Abbey for special letters of administration over the estate of D. E. Morris who died last Thursday in Los Angeles. Abbey's request was filed when it was shown that included in personal property of Morris' estate were two large fishing boats and equipment operating out of Newport Harbor.

NAB DOPE SUSPECTS

HONOLULU, Feb. 4. — (UP)—Federal officers today announced the arrest of Richard Considine and a woman, "Babe" Clark, both of Los Angeles, on charges of illegal possession of 36 grains of opium. They will be charged with violation of the narcotics act.

NEBRASKANS TO DINE

Former residents of Belvidere, Neb., will meet at a potluck dinner at 12:30 p. m. Sunday at Jack Fisher Park. A program has been arranged for the occasion, which yesterday was inadvertantly announced as scheduled for tomorrow.

FOUNDERS' DAY PROGRAM HELD

LA HABRA, Feb. 4.—A Founders' day program was featured at the meeting of the local P.-T. A. at the Washington school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. In a pageant presented through the chairmanship of Mrs. Dan Hungerford, I. E. Wiede took the part of a genial chef.

Mrs. T. W. LaMonte sang "Remembering," with Mrs. H. E. Marsh at the piano. Mrs. J. A. Akers, representing the past presidents, Mrs. P. J. Stemple, the present president, and Ruth Pearcy, the future presidents, presented an appropriate skit, reading verses.

The setting was that of early California days. A life-size stuffed donkey, with picturesque Mexican driver centered the stage, while Mexican pottery and cactus were also featured. At the close of the program tea and the birthday cake were served.

At the executive board meeting held in the forenoon at the home of Mrs. L. E. Proud, the nominating committee was appointed.

ARRANGE MEETINGS OF LEGION GROUPS

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 4.—Plans for entertaining the county council of the American Legion auxiliary with luncheon February 8 and the Legion county council the evening of February 11 were made by members of the local auxiliary when they met this week in Legion hall. Lillian Thorpe was appointed chairman of the dining room committee and Ida Rameriz the kitchen committee.

A social meeting will be held February 15 at the home of Mrs. Grace Holley in Midway City. Announcement was made that Mesdames Lillian Thorpe, Lillian Mixer, Mae Hall, Ida Ramerez and Marie Kennedy planned to attend the 21st district meeting in Riverside.

TWO NEW CLASSES OPEN AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 4.—Two new classes in adult education have been made available at the local high school, with the addition of conversational Spanish and bookkeeping. T

The Spanish class, to be held on Monday evening from 7 to 9, will be conducted by Manuel B. Santos and W. Rex Hoover, certified public accountant, will have charge of the bookkeeping class, scheduled to open on February 8. The two classes are part of an extensive program of adult education sponsored by the local school board.

SEAL BEACH COUNCIL TO HOLD PIER CONFERENCE ON MONDAY

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 4.—Amicable settlement of litigation now pending between the city of Seal Beach and the Bayside Land company over the old pier located at the southerly end of Main street will be sought in a special session of the city council authorizing Mayor Elmer J. Hughes to invite P. A. council authorizing Mayor Elmer J. Hufhes to invite P. A. Stanton of the land company to attend the session.

A compromise settlement on removal of the old structure and release of the franchise to clear the way for construction of the proposed $139,500 pleasure pier would eliminate long and expensive litigation ,already launched in the superior court in Santa Ana, according to Councilman Ernest F. Green. The motion for compromise and the special meeting was made by Green and seconded by Councilman Kupferle.

Play centers and entertainment for the youth of the community not now available in parks, or supervised playgrounds, won councilmanic support on two propositions. A community play center, with a paid supervisor, will be established in the school auditorium of Community Methodist church, following the offer of the church by the board of directors, as presented to the council by the pastor, the Rev. Oscar M. Newby.

Special equipment, and the salary for the supervisor will be decided upon by the council as a whole in special session with Newby.

High school and junior college age young people were voted $19.75 to buy special electrical musical equipment for weekly dances to be held in Civic auditorium.

Party Enjoyed In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 4.—Members of the '37 club of the high school were entertained by Miss Barbara Dales at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry L. Lake. A prize in court whist went to Miss Helen Meyer. As a surprise for Mrs. Twila Hunt Henry, a recent bride, she was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

The bridal theme was stressed in the decorations and refreshments served to the following: Mrs. Esther Mallott, of Long Beach; Mrs. Twila Henry, Miss Dorothy Graves, Miss Ellen Edwards, Miss Marjorie Allen, Miss Evelyn Lamb, Miss Lois Weber, Miss Ruth Lehnhardt, Miss Helen Meyer, Miss Anita Force, Miss Avis Forry and Miss Margie Brown.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brush are announcing their marriage which took place January 30 at the Brush home on Newland avenue. The bride was Mrs. Dollie Rutherford, formerly of Texas, but for some time an Orange county resident. The Rev. Luther A. Arthur, pastor of the First Baptist church of Huntington Beach, officiated at the ceremony which was witnessed by the son of the bride, Leland Rutherford, and the two daughters of the groom, the Misses Jeanne and Betty Brush.

COLLEGE PROJECT TO COST $47,000

FULLERTON, Feb. 4.—Although work has had to stop because of the rain, arrangements are complete for the use of WPA labor in landscaping the Fullerton District Junior college campus. Cost is estimated at about $47,000. More than 70 men will be employed six months for this work, which will include cement drain pipe construction, sidewalks, curb and concrete wall work, and a sprinkling system.

Social Planned By Mesa W. R. C

COSTA MESA, Feb. 4.—Plans for a valentine box social on February 14, at 7:30 p. m, at the social hall of the Community church were made at the meeting of the W.R.C. Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. B. McMurtry, 228 Twentieth street. The February 16 meeting of the corps will also be held at the church.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 4.—The sixth birthday of Lavonne Snido was celebrated at the family home with a party given by her mother, Mrs. R. E. Snido. The children spent the hours after school with games and the birthday cake was served with ice cream. Those joining Lavonne were Jean Johnson, Ruth Meairs, Charonne James, Beverly Harper, Novelle Harper, Beverly Burns, the latter of Long Beach.

AIMS FOR NEW YEAR OUTLINED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 4.—Newly elected officers of the Huntington Beach Chamber of commerce were installed by Judge James Tucker, of Santa Ana, at the annual victory banquet held in Memorial hall last evening. More than 250 persons from many Southland cities attended, including a group from the Santa Ana Chamber of commerce.

When Dr. L. F. Whittaker was installed as president he spoke of the undertakings that the new body would try to accomplish in 1938, among them the proposed acquisition of beach frontage for a park. Others installed were D. W. Huston, vice president; W. H. Gallienne, secretary, and J. Sherman Denny, treasurer.

The Santa Ana Elks' double quartet and Miss Ruth Armstrong, the pianist and director, presented numbers. Charles Horrworth of the All-Year club told of the value of the tourist industry. He placed it at a million dollars above that of the citrus industry.

The high school ensemble played under the direction of Miss Margaret Squires. M. M. McCallen presided as toastmaster. Mayor W. H. Warner gave the address of welcome. Garden club members were in charge of decorations. Women of the Methodist church served the dinner.

Travelers Attend Luncheon at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Mildred Ridenour was hostess to the travelers who made the recent Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce goodwill tour to Mexico at her home Thursday. A delicious luncheon was served at 1 p. m.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Beatty, Dr. and Mrs. Herman Judd and Mrs. J. Hart, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Humphries, Arcadia; Mrs. Charles Brewster, La Habra; Mrs. Rosalie Martindell, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. Powell, Chicago; Mesdames W. T. Newland, D. R. White, Lizzie Yetter, Huntington Beach. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Bowen were others invited. They had planned the trip but business prevented their going.

Homer Canfield's RADIOLOGIC

●"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here—

HOLLYWOOD—PAUL WHITEman has moved his boys into Manhattan. His Friday night commercial, however, will follow the pattern designed in Hollywood.

Homer Canfield

Mitzi Green, a former child screen star grown to womanhood, gets the nod as visiting artist. (KNX, 8:30)

The first of the maestri to incorporate an electric organ with an orchestra, Fatho recently, by dropping the instrument from his band, threw a bombshell of confusion in the laps of a good many dance makers who had followed his leadership.

Along with the rest of the lads, your Uncle Canfield asked why.

"The use of the electrical instrument in the presentation of modern music is still in the experimental stage, but will come to play a very important part during the next few years," he sagely replied as I climbed upon the broad plateau formed by his knees.

The King of Jazz, my friends, may have slipped somewhat in the esteem of dialers since the invasion of swing, but those who wield the hot sticks still pledge allegiance to his words.

Tugging at what I thought was his third chin (I later discovered it was his fifth), I said, "Don't stop, Fatho. Tell us more. What good is an electric organ anyway?"

With a resigned air, a paternal pat on the head and a deep, well-measured voice that seemed to float out of a bottomless pit, the King continued:

"The electric organ, my lad, can be used to build up any one section of a small orchestra to sound full and complete. It's many uses in this manner make it an invaluable addition to any combination of sixteen pieces or less.

"So, Fatho, with such a big band as you've got, you don't need an electric organ. Is that right, Fatho?"

"Yes, sah! That's the situation. We just don't need one as they're used today."

"What do you mean by 'today,' Fatho? Does that mean you've got something up your sleeve? You're not going to spring something new on us are you, Fatho?"

"Well, my lad, we're working on it. Roy Bargy, my assistant conductor, is doing an awful lot of experimenting. And we hope to have our findings all smoothly ironed out for a special concert series this summer in New York. We intend to use the electric organ in our arrangements as a feaured instrument and not one just used in creating novel effects or in supporting other sections. We're going to give it a place of its own!"

"My, that sounds awfully important, Fatho!"

"Well, I don't like to say so myself, lad. I'll leave that to you. But we mustn't overlook one thing: Probably as soon as we fit the electric organ to a definite position, it's more than likely that another electricized improvement will turn up and we'll have to start all over again."

With the sounding of that ominous note your reporter scampered away to spread the news. But as we swung through the rehearsal hall door, we paused for one last look. There was the master petrified in stoic thought.

The machine age has entered music!

Jack Oakie . . . dropped

As forecast in this column as far back as December 7, Jack Oakie's College leaves the air and Benny Goodman's Swingeroos move into his spot. But here's something we didn't forecast, rumors of which dropped like bombshells on the Hollywood Radio front Tuesday:

Eddie Cantor wins the paycheck that is now being made out to Oakie!

The rumor is now a fact.

And about that paycheck—there'll be a few extra dollars added, which, if our grapevine is tapping out the correct figure, will be made out to the tune of $16,500. Yeah, for thirty minutes on the air once a week! Of course, Cantor will pay for his talent and band out of it. He'll probably end up with a bare $10,000. Did I hear someone humming "Nice Work if You Can Get It"?

The fried-egg-eyed comedian moves into a new day and time—Mondays, 7:00 to 7:30 p. m.—starting March 28. B. Goodman then takes over the Tuesday, 6:30 to 7:00 period.

And Jack Oakie is out a sponsor. Why? Poor material, kiddies, just poor material. Today it takes more than an established "name" to entertain dialers. Fans are no longer suckers. Put Oakie in the right type of show, give him smart things to say and he'll be swell. I thought he did a good job last year when the "College" idea was an actuality.

This should be a very plain brand of handwriting on the wall for a good many others who are skimming by on old jokes, poor taste, and the help of guest stars, who nine times out of ten show up with even worse material.

Take heed, laddies, take heed. Those golden-lined paychecks don't just grow.

Cantor's decision to make a switch in sponsors is understood to have been forced by his present backer's desire to take a rest from radio and its large weekly stipend for at least six months. Cantor is said to have asked for his release and got it, which might have been somewhat of a shock to Saucer Eyes, too.

Somehow we can't hear Cantor peddling cigarettes. His brand of comedy, more than weak minded at times, must appeal in a great extent to children. And he also has a knack for picking child stars and making them an indispensable part of his program. Imagine Deanna Durbin as a cigarette girl! Or the young participants in his "Radio Discovery of 1938" contest! Personally, I don't like it. How about you?

Of course, there may be some changes made in the cast, but the supposition at this writing is that the Cantor troupe will remain intact when the switch is made.

YORBA

YORBA, Feb. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Budlong have returned home after spending several days in Phoenix, Ariz.

Col. and Mrs. W. L. Lowe attended the Damascus White Shrine meeting in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Reeves and daughters, Ellen and Virginia, were guests of Miss Esperanza Carrillo in Los Angeles at the showing of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at the Carthay Circle recently.

Miss Viola Vejar has returned to her home in Pomona after spending several days as guest of Mrs. Idalia Yorba Draper.

3 DIE AS MAN GOES 'BERSERK'

TEWKSBURY, Mass., Feb. 4.—A 70-year-old inmate of the Tewksbury state infirmary went berserk today and killed three fellow inmates. Two others were critically wounded. The old man fled but was captured in Lowell, four miles away.

The old man, John Mack, crept out of his bed in the darkened men's ward at 4 a. m. In some way he had obtained a pistol. Without warning and apparently without discrimination he pumped bullets into sleeping bodies.

Wounds Prove Fatal

Michael O'Keefe, 70, was killed outright. Edward Mercier, 70, and James McGee, 78, died soon afterward of their wounds. John Lewis, 76, and John O'Donnell, 55, were so gravely wounded that physicians feared that they would die.

The pistol fire aroused the hospital. Doctors, nurses and orderlies raced into the ward. They found old men groaning in agony. The slayer had fled.

Three hours later, policemen in a patrol car saw the old man slinking along a Lowell street. They leveled their pistols at him, and he gave up.

P.-T. A. PLANS BENEFIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 4.—The P.-T. A. of the elementary school will hold a food sale at Eader's bakery all day February 19 to raise funds for the P.-T. A. milk fund.

BRITONS JAIL SPY SUSPECTS

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements Feb. 4.—(UP)—Police detained two Japanese today and seized documents they possessed, as maneuvers designed to test the strength of Great Britain's new $100,000,000 Far Eastern naval base reached a climactic phase.

It was said officially that the arrests were not connected with the maneuvers. Some quarters suggested that they were connected with arrangements for security of the base generally, and a tightening up in prospect of the formal opening of Singapore Feb. 11.

Sight "Enemy Fleet"

Defending submarines of the Redland force today sighted Blueland destroyers of the "enemy" fleet which is supposed to be attacking Singapore.

Radio news of the sighting brought Redland airplanes which, by bombing, drove off the destroyers.

It was assumed here that the attacking force in the next phase of the maneuvers would try to land troops on the shores of the coast for a land attack on Singapore.

However, umpires have duled that the aircraft carrier Eagle of the attacking force has not yet been put out of action by Redland bombing planes, and there seemed the possibility that the Eagle's planes would seek to penetrate the protection cordon of defending planes.

tim of a well-laid plot. Mr. Powell, Jr., had promised to deliver his father in front of that particular restaurant—and kept his word.

In this morning's mail is a letter from a lady in Oklahoma, who has just seen "Hurricane." How she flays Dorothy Lamour for having the nerve to appear before "decent, proper folks" in a costume which shows most of her anatomy. "I am sure," she writes, "that that Lamour girl must be an immodest hussy. No decent girl would ever pick such a costume—and I, for one, will never see another picture that she is in." I answered her letter and tried to explain that Dorothy Lamour does not pick the costumes that she wears—but I suppose the effort was wasted. Really it is amazing how many people there are in this world who make complaints just as illogical about every actress and every picture. And I am beginning to think that most of them vent their spleen by writing letters to me.

A certain famous star who likes to pose as a collector and patron of the fine arts, recently paid an Eastern dealer a fat price for an "Old Master." He felt sure that he had seen a copy of the painting somewhere—probably, he decided, in some book about great paintings. But he dismissed the matter without another thought until his purchase arrived by express. Telling his family that he had acquired a priceless original, he solemnly unpacked the painting—and couldn't understand his wife's sardonic laughter until she led him into another room of his own house and there, on the wall, showed him a duplicate of his new possession, which he had purchased months before as an original.

On the "Robin Hood" set today, overheard an altercation between one of the Studio's yes-men and Director Mike Curtiz. Mike, in his indescribable accent, rose to heights of eloquence that would have left an old time army sergeant green with envy. Then, running out of expletives, he gasped: "Gott, anything I would give if you understood Hungarian, so I could tell you what I really think!"

CHERRY PITS IRK U. S.

BOISE CITY, Ida.—(UP)—Because more than one cherry pit for every 20 ounces of cherries was found in a shipment of 108 cases here labeled "Pitted Sour Cherries," Federal authorities attached the entire lot as misbranded in violation of the drug and food act.

ATWOOD

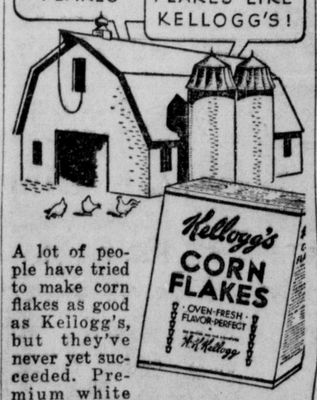

ATWOOD, Feb. 4.—Mss Mary Morales has enrolled in the Pacific Bible school in Los Angeles.

Mrs. E. E. Barnum of Needles, is spending a few days at their ranch here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Meyer attended the South Dakota picnic held at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles Sunday.

Taylor Johnston of Olancha, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lytle, has returned to his home. Mrs. Johnston, who had been a houseguest of the Lytles for several weeks, accompanied her husband to Olancha. The Johnstons are former residents of Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. John Woodward and children, Jack, Genise and Coralyn, Miss Rosalye Estlow and Miss Olive Gale of Yorba Linda, spent Sunday at Camp Baldy.

A lot of people have tried to make corn flakes as good as Kellogg's, but they've never yet succeeded. Premium white corn and Kellogg's own methods of cooking, flavoring, toasting and packing keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes at the top in sales and popularity.

Our Own Make SHORTENING

Some years ago, when first we started to sell shortening, it had the natural odor, and color. Then they started to bring it out white and odorless. This was accomplished by chemical use which also destroyed the flavor. One would not care to have a beef roast, that had no taste, and the aroma is not objectionable. In fact, it fills one with expectation, long before it is done and ready to eat.

It is the same with our home rendered shortening. It is rich.

It is Tasty.

PROOF... 27 to 33⅓% LOWER

This is proof that we have been selling meats at a much lower price level than of several months ago, especially BEEF - - the growers have an abundance of prime grain fatted ready for market - - - and we surely have co-operated by lowering our retail prices, as we were vitally effected because we are PRODUCERS of fine grain fed BEEF on our own ranches and farms and here in our own FEED PENS.

NAVY SEEKS SAFETY AIDS IN CRASH OF DEATH

WAR GAMES ARE HALTED WHILE QUIZ GOES ON

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 4.—(UP)—The navy's war games paused today while a board of inquiry attempted to retrieve some profitable information from Wednesday night's disaster—the collision of two bombing planes that cost 11 lives.

"Out of this regrettable and costly accident," Rear Admiral Charles A. Blakely said, "we may arrive at a new safety feature in aircraft maneuvers."

Three Factors a Peril

The two giant planes locked wings while being maneuvered into close formation during darkness and a squall, each of three factors a peril.

The cause of the crash was not given officially, but it was reported that a gust of wind had caused them to drift together. They locked, one plane burst into flames and both plunged down and sank in the ocean. Four men of one plane leaped out in parachutes and were picked up from the water. One of them died later of his injuries.

Theoretical Invader

The 98 warships and more than 300 planes, assembled off the coast for war games under realistic conditions, were maneuvering in darkness against a theoretical enemy invader. The bombers were Scouting, and close formation, into which they were ordered, means approximately one plane width, 105 feet, apart. The stormy weather added to the hazards of attempting the solid phlanx in which the V-shaped squadrons travel.

Aboard one plane, Lieut, Carlton P. Hutchins, former naval academy football and lacross star, ordered his mean to leap through a bomb rack opening when the crash occurred. Four of them escaped from the plane. J. H. Hester, radioman first class, one of the four picked up by the crew of a crashboat from the Flagship Pennsylvania, died of his injuries yesterday. The other three survived.

Stays At Controls

Lieut. Hutchins still was at the controls the last time he was seen by survivors. Two other members of his crew, William Woodruff and John G. M. Neidzweicki, also were lost with the plane designated 11-P-3.

In the plane 11-P-4 Lieut. Elmer G. Cooper and his crew of six all died. They were Erwin Koch, aviation cadet, and the enlisted men: Maurice J. Fitzmaurice, George C. Griffith, Julian Rawls, Joseph Walton and William Landgreve.

Five of those lost were veterans in the navy's Pacific flights and made a trip to Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, from California last April.

The two motored planes, 14-ton PBY models, were valued at $250,000 each.

SPIRITUAL LIFE OF AMERICAN INDIAN PORTRAYED IN TALK

Drawing one of the largest gatherings ever to assemble at the Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum auditorium which was filled to over-flowing, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton last night gave a vivid portrayal of the life and teachings of the American Indian.

Using the parable type of lecture, Seton told stories gathered from the Indians that illustrated the philosophical and ethical life and thinking of the tribes.

Full War Regalia

Seton's stories were interspersed with Indian songs by Mrs. Seton, dressed in various Indian costumes, outstanding of which was a full war regalia which is said to be the most beautiful in existence.

In speaking of the religion of the Indian, Mrs. Seton declared the Indian used his religion every day and in all of his living in contrast to the religion of the white man that is often a one-day-a-week religion.

Materially-Minded

"The chief diffreence basically," between the white man and the Indian, in religious thinking and living," Mrs. Seton said, "is that our civilization is based on material values while that of the Indian is spiritual.

"The Indian made no diferentiation between religion and ethics but based his life on the service he could render to his people.

"We find Indian music parallel to that of the white man in every case except one. The white man has no song of death but this is an important part of the Indian's life for he meets the last adventure joyouslyand unafraid," Mrs. Seton concluded.

Tom-Tom Rhythm

Mrs. Seton used an authentic Indian tom-tom to illustrate the rhythm of the Indian music.

Waving Goodby

Elsinore Man Is Held for Hearing

Charged with issuing a fictitious check with intent to defraud, David Simmons, 27, Elsinore, was held today for preliminary hearing before Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court next Wednesday at 10 a. m.

With a warrant issued by Judge Morrison, Officers Tom Kinney and Richard M. Bradley went to Elsinore yesterday and, with assistance of Elsinore police, arrested Simmons.

Drivers Pay Fines After Court Pleas

Five speeders, five illegal parkers, and a reckless driver occupied the attention of Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court yesterday.

Ebon Jones, Orange, pleaded guilty to the charge of reckless driving and was fined $25 by Judge Mitchell. The five speeders were: John C. Kauffman, Pasadena, $8; Charles R. Foote, Wilmar, $6; Wendell M. Brown, South Pasadena, $6; William M. Lenox, Los Angeles, $5; and Warren B. Wyman, San Clemente, $8 and $2 for boulevard stop violation.

Five illegal parkers were fined $1 each.

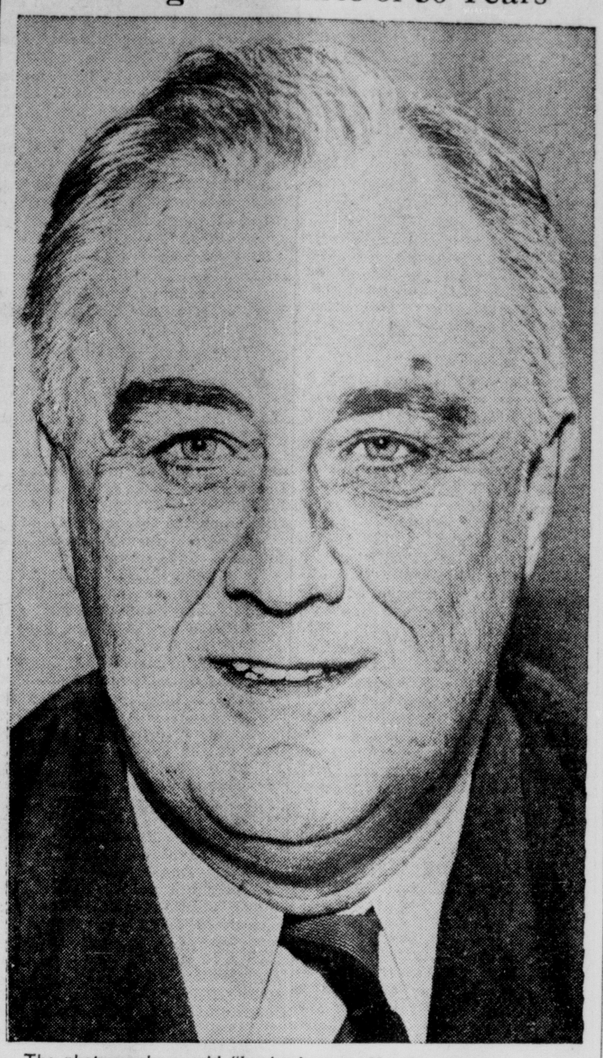

Orange Show Duck Dinner Scheduled

The annual Duck Dinner of the National Orange Show will be held in the dining room of the Orange Show building in San Bernardino this evening, according to the invitations which have been issued by show president, Everett H. Swing.

Prominent civic and state officials, leaders in the citrus industry, newspaper publishers and celebrities of radio and screen will attend. The dinner is a prelude to the opening of the 28th annual Orange Show which opens March 17.

"Despite the fact it is St. Patrick's Day—the oranges will still be orange," Swing said.

Through the Cares of 56 Years

The photographers said "Look pleasant, Mr. President," and here is the result—Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, on his 56th birthday. A few more tiny wrinkles, a few more gray hairs, but the same genial smile and twinkling eyes mark the face of the nation's First Citizen after another year in the White House. He posed for the picture above during a ceremony which preceded a nation-wide birthday celebration marked by more than 15,000 parties held to obtain funds to fight infantile paralysis.

Standard Group Holds Luncheon

LA HABRA, Feb. 4.—Stanard Oil women held their regular luncheon and card party at the recreation hall on the Murphy lease, Tuesday.

Mrs. O. M. Scott, Mrs. Thos. Mahoney and Mrs. Herman Kruse were hostesses for the day and featured the Valentine motif in their decorations.

Eight tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon. Prizes in contract bridge were awarded to Mrs. Farran, of Whittier, first; and Mrs. E. N. Cooke, of La Habra, second. In auction bridge, Mrs. Jim Black and Mrs. Kruse were winners. Mrs. W. W. Hibbard won the special novelty prize for the day.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

BARBER CITY, Feb. 4.—Members of the Barber City Woman's club met Tuesday at the clubhouse for an all day meeting. Mrs. Floy Hilborn and Mrs. Ruth Goble were hostesses of the day.

Present were Mrs. Benjamin Upham, Mrs. George Prindle, Mrs. Ruth Goble, Mrs. Hubert Tyler, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Gass, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. Addelaide Olsen, Mrs. Beacroft, Mrs. Floy Hilborn, Mrs. McAlum and Mrs. Edward Finley.

FATHERS' FORUM TO MEET TONIGHT

Completion of plans for organization of a Santa Ana Fathers' Forum of the Spurgeon school was scheduled for 7:30 p. m. today at the second meeting of the group in the Spurgeon auditorium. Fathers throughout the city school district are urged to attend. The forum will work in conjunction with the Spurgeon P.-T. A.

The Spurgeon school P.-T. A. executive board will hold an all day meeting next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Fondren, 1225 South Broadway, Santa Ana. The meeting will start at 10 a. m., with a pot luck lunch at noon.

FACES FEDERAL COUNT

Jesus Moreno, 20, Tijuana, was jailed here yesterday afternoon by immigration authorities, in connection with his entering this country illegally.

MILITARY BALL DEVELOPMENTS PRESAGE OUTSTANDING EVENT

The tenth annual military ball, scheduled for February 21, will be one of the most outstanding and colorful affairs of the long series of functions sponsored by the Citizens committee, according to a report today by Harry S. Pickard, chairman, at the regular meeting of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, the host organization.

Final plans are expected to be completed within the next week, Pickard stated, and preliminary reports of ticket sales indicate a record attendance at this year's ball. Next meeting of the committee will be held Monday evening.

Local members are urged to be in attendance at the eighth district meeting to be held at Daniger's Cafe Sunday. The business session will commence at 1:30 p. m. preceded by a noon dinner.

Major J. W. Wooldridge, San Clemente, a member of the Citizens Committee, addressed the meeting briefly on matters of importance to disabled veterans at the moment.

MAHLUM HEARING MOVED TO FEB. 10

Charged with grand theft and issuance of fictitious checks in Orange county, W. M. Mahlum, 35, today was granted a continuance of his preliminary hearing until February 10 at 10 a. m. to allow more time to prepare a defense.

Judge Kenneth Morrison set the date. Aside from alleged issuance of fictitious checks here, Mahlum assertedly accepted $100 from D. B. Wright, Costa Mesa, as down payment on a new automobile and took in Wright's two automobiles as part of the down payment, then fled. Apprehended by Yakima, Wash. police, he was returned to Santa Ana.

Farm Post Tests Scheduled by U. S.

Open competitive examinations to fill four government jobs were announced today by Frank Cannon, secretary of the board of United States civil service examiners at the post office. All of the posts are in the Department of Agriculture. Three of them are in the Soil Conservation service and the other in the Bureau of Animal Industry.

The Soil Conservation service jobs are: Agronomist, associate and assistant agronomists at salaries ranging from $2600 to $3800 a year. The other job is junior scientific aid (parasitology) in the Bureau of Animal Industry at a salary of $1440 a year.

CHURCH TEACHERS MEET

PLACENTIA, Feb. 4. — Thirty teachers and officers of the Placentia Calvary church Sunday school and the branch Olinda Sunday school had a pot luck dinner and meeting at the home of S. L. Marshburn, superintendent of the Calvary church scholo, and Mrs. Marshburn in Yorba Linda Thursday night.

Happy Ending?

Climax of more than two decades of legal battle is expected soon when the U. S. Supreme court rules on the appeal of Tom Mooney, labor organizer convicted of the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco. Mooney is pictured above at San Quentin prison.

Coloradoans Plan Annual Reunion

President Bill Campbell of the Colorado State Society today announced the time for the annual picnic for all former residents of that state. It will be held all day, Sunday, February 13, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, with basket dinners at noon.

He promises a popular program and that county registers and headquarters will be open all day so friends may meet each other. The program will follow the dinner hour and hot coffee will be supplied for all picnickers. Lunches are sold in the park.

AUTO IS STOLEN

Jildo Esparza, Westminster, told police yesterday, a thief stole his 1928, blue Chevrolet coupe, from its parking place, Third and Spurgeon, late Wednesday night.

SAFE-CRACKER RAIDS FEARED

Warned by Los Angeles police against a ban of safe-blowers expected to become active in Orange county, Santa Ana and Anaheim police last night patrolled the areas where automobile club offices are located, repeatedly.

According to Police Chief James E. Davis and his men of the burglary detail, information was secured, showing that plans were being laid in Los Angeles by a band of safe-blowing burglars, to appear in Santa Ana and Anaheim, last night or soon, to burglarize offices and business establishments.

Prey On Clubs

According to word received by Elmer Heidt, manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California office, here, the safe-blowers have been making it a practice to prey upon auto clubs.

Santa Ana police patrolled the area where the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Orange County Automobile club are located, on North Main street, regularly, during last night. No suspicious characters were discovered in the vicinity.

"Try my Camay care to win a Bride Complexion"

SAYS THIS LOVELY MICHIGAN BRIDE

DETROIT, MICH.

I'm glad I can tell other girls that just using Camay faithfully keeps my skin smooth! Believe me, I'll never change to any other beauty care!

(Signed) ALICE S. SCOTT (Mrs. Edward Scott)

December 11, 1937

LOVELY skin just walks away with hearts! There are thousands of girls like charming Mrs. Scott whose Camay complexions have proved that's true!

Camay does keep skin lovelier, for there's no soap that you can buy that has the same luxuriant lather to stimulate your skin, to give it a thorough cleansing. No other soap is milder than Camay.

Repeated tests, carefully made on every type of skin, showed Camay—the real beauty soap—was definitely, provably milder!

And though no soap that you can buy is better than Camay—you'll find it very reasonably priced. Try it today. This soap chosen by so many lovely brides will help your skin win loveliness!

Country Club Calendar Promises Many Gala February Parties

Inspired by the success of January social affairs at the Country club under general direction of Mrs. Don Andrews and her hostess committee, Mrs. Charles V. Davis has outlined some equally brilliant plans to be carried out this month at the clubhouse.

Co-operating with her in making these plans as successful as the initial month's hospitalities will be Mesdames Stanley Anderson, J. R. Bryant, Joe C. Burke, L. J. Bushard, Lawrence Cameron, Lester Carden, Dean Campbell, R. G. Cartwright, Frank Chapman, Charles Chapman, L. D. Coffing, Charles Cogan, Jack Colburn, Lawrence Coffman and Ralph Cole.

Tonight's dancing party, like the event of Friday night, February 25, will be under direction of separate dance committees, but all other events calendered, are planned by Mrs. Davis and her coworkers. Sunday night will bring the month's first buffet supper, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colburn and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson as hosts. Serving in the same capacity on Sunday night, February 13, will be the Ralph Coles and the Louis Bushards; on February 20, the Lester Cardens and the Lawrence Coffings and on the final Sunday night of the month, the J. R. Bryants and Dr. and Mrs. Larry Cameron.

A week from tonight on the occasion of the evening bridge party, guests will be received by Mr. and Mrs. Davis and the Dean Campbells. Friday afternoon, February 18, will be set aside for the gala bridge tea promised by Mrs. Lester Carden, Mrs. Joe C. Burke and Mrs. Charles Cogan. Many members are making plans already to lunch at the clubhouse on that date and are forming parties and of course making reservations in advance.

Plans are being made for dinner parties in advance of the dance on February 25 also, and this affair will be in charge of the standing dance committee, the J. Riley Hubers with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez and the Roy Langleys.

MOUNTAIN PARTY

Miss Muriel Bray has arranged a houseparty for the week end, inviting a group of relatives and friends to Arrowhead for a merry event which will begin this evening and continue until Sunday night.

With the hostess will be her sister, Miss Joan Bray and their parents, the J. H. Brays of this city; Miss Muriel Bray's fiance, Le Mar Underwood, Miss Ruth Van Fleet and Mrs. Theresa Stafford, all of Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Moody, Los Angeles.

Evening Affair Comes As Compliment To Miss Warmer

Mrs. James D. Newman added a pleasant affair to the list of pre-nuptial parties complimenting Miss Florence Warmer when she was hostess last night at a party in her home, 615 East Bishop street. Miss Warmer is fiancee of Willard Keith.

Tallies of valentine motif were distributed for Chinese bridge play in which prizes went to Miss Edna Ebersole and Mrs. Duane Smith, who scored high and low. The assembled group of friends had selected as shower gifts for Miss Warmer a pretty lace table cloth and pieces of crystal.

Sandwiches, chocolate and valentine cookies formed the inviting refreshment course served late in the evening. Assisting the hostess was Mr. Newman's mother, Mrs. James R. Newman. Others present were the honoree and the Misses Dorothy Hanna, Edna Ebersole, Florence Ulrich, Helen Wiesseman, Betty Niedergall, Venna Goodwin, Marjorie Holman and Mesdames V. W. Selvidge, Duane Smith, P. H. Budd, and Don Davis.

Thomas-Deardorff Barn Provides Setting For Gala Dance

Last night's gentle rain-fall was all that was needed to complete the desired atmosphere for a festive affair at which Miss Glenna Jean Deardorff and Miss Doris Lorraine Faupel entertained a group of their young friends in the Thomas-Deardorff barn on McClay street.

The two sub-deb hostesses fell into line with other merrymakers by holding a dancing event in the hospitable old barn, one of the most popular party settings which the community has enjoyed for a long time. This was just one of a steady stream of events which has been given in the barn since last October at Hallowe'en time.

Miss Deardorff's mother, Mrs. Clyde Deardorff had arranged a charming setting, including the gayest of immense valentines on the walls. Valentine trees bore the reddest of hearts from which streamers swayed. Assisting in extending hospitality were Mrs. Deardorff, Mrs. Ella Faupel, Mrs. Raymond Nelson, Mrs. R. E. Steinberger and Mrs. R. R. Rosselot.

Balloon Dance

Novelty numbers and games added to the ballroom dancing program. Red and white balloons falling from the ceiling in a colorful shower were numbered, so that a lucky prize during the balloon dance went to Miss Betty May Nelson. Motion pictures of the young people were taken during the evening, with the grand march offering especially vivid scenes for the photographers.

Thirty-six guests seated at a long table, matched partners by drawing valentines from a gayly-decked box which formed a centerpiece. Flaming red ranunculuses and matching tapers added to the attractive scene. Jello topped with whipped cream was served with cakes in valentine motif.

Original Play Staged For Barn Program By Its Author

An innovation in entertainment for Community Players in their monthly programs at The Barn, was introduced last night when Mrs. Harry L. Hanson presented the first original three-act play ever done as a Barn event.

Interest in the event was indicated by the fact that association members had defied the rainy night by appearing in numbers that taxed The Barns' seating capacity. Only brief space was given to business matters, the president, John Colwell, announcing the dates of February 25 and 26 for the production of "The Late Christopher Bean" in Ebell auditorium, before introducing Mrs. Hanson as program chairman.

Touching lightly upon the California period in which her play was set, Mrs. Hanson told of its being post-automobile, but pre-radio days. She explained that the cast was drawn largely from the young people of a Tustin church group in which she is actively interested, and also that her title of "Wind Blown Candles," might well be changed by omitting the word "wind," as candles figuering in the plot development, had to be blown out because of scenic limitations of The Barn.

Following her humorous introductory remarks, the playwright expressed yet another talent by playing the incidental piano music of the drama, including between-acts numbers. An inn in a small mission town was setting for all but one scene of the interesting play, and the clever stage arrangements and striking costumes were all the work of Mrs. Hanson.

Good Acting

The plot was a development of religious views very appropriate to the setting, and showed excellent acting on the part of the cast. So much of it was definite character work, that Community Players were especially intrigued by hitherto unsuspected dramatic possibilities of some of their fellow members. These included Harry L. Hanson who was highly convincing as the padre, "Father Ferdinand."

"Tia Rosa" was a gracious and charming Spanish senora as portrayed by Laura Marks, and her vivid niece "Carmelita," was Vivian Harper. The handsome young Spaniard, "Felipe," was enacted by Idus Harper; Harriett Parnell was the sultry little Spanish girl, "Raquel," and her scheming sister, "Terres," was played by Annette Harper.

"Mrs. Morrison," with her interest caught by escteric religions, was Wanda Mae Ebel, and her young husband, providing one of the romantic interests in the plot development, was James Hathcock. Roy Connelly's characterization as the "Swami," was excellent, and the comedy role of 'Tad" was extremely well done by Herschell Parnell.

The play met with enthusiasm, but neither author nor cast consented to take the tribute paid. However, all received compliments during the friendly social hour climaxing the evening. Mrs. Hanson was assisted at this time by Mrs. William Spurgeon jr. in serving tamales, wafers and mints. Assistance was lent by various Players including the president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Colwell, the director, Gladys Simpson Shafer, and Harry L. Hanson, minus all his padre's costume except the powdered hair.

Out Of Town Guests Are Entertained

Long Beach, Inglewood and Los Angeles friends of Mrs. A. C. Venable were her guests Tuesday afternoon when she was hostess at a Calendar club party in her home, 1313 West Eighth street. Hyacinths and marigolds were used in decorating.

The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. C. M. Doolittle of Inglewood, who received gifts from the group. Luncheon was served.

Completing the party were Mesdames George Stephenson, E. J. Carner, C. M. McIntyre, Forrest Myers, Frank Blair, Paul Robinson, and Miss Sharmon McIntyre, all of Long Beach; Mrs. Earl Galbraith of Los Angeles, formerly of this city.

Pegasus Group Spends Program Interval In Fairyland

Spending an afternoon in Fairyland, so to speak, Pegasus club members devoted their writing ability to the theme, "A Fairy Tale," proposed by their hostess of yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Frank Was, 617 Orange avenue.

Because of the illness of one of the sons of the home, Frank Was jr., the hostess was given friendly assistance of Mrs. Rose Havely and Mrs. Frank Lansdown in receiving and entertaining her guests, leaving her free to give time to her son's needs.

Program features were varied, the subject calling forth stories, poems and articles. Mrs. J. B. Wolfe chose "The Eight Immortals" as her subject with an interesting decription of characters of Chinese folklore, illustrated by tiny silken figures. Mrs. C. C. Fuller had written a graceful little tale, "The Lotus Flower," followed by Mrs. George Bond's pretty poem, "A Field of Make-Believe."

Mrs. C. C. Brisco continued in poetic vein with "My Fairy Garden" as did Mrs. Justus Birtcher with "My Pacific Yard;" Mrs. Glen Tidball with "When Knighthood was in Flower," and Mrs. Walter E. Foote with "Fairy Bells." Miss Gertrude Andrews, newly welcomed to club membership, read her first Pegasus story, "Little Sea Princess." Mrs. C. F. Jackson also read a fanciful little tale, "Concerning the Non-Appearance of Margot," and the hostess, Mrs. Was, completed the story group with "Juanillo," a favorite.

Mrs. Havely and Mrs. Lansdown had made their contribution in the less poetic but more practical form of assistance in serving the dessert course with which the afternoon opened. Mrs. Brisco will entertain the group on February 17, and has assigned "Fog" as the program theme.

Torosa Sewing Circle Plans Card Party

Torosa Rebekah Sewing Circle members made party plans, worked on articles for a bazaar and celebrated two birthday anniversaries during their monthly meeting yesterday in the home of Mrs. Gladys McDonald, Orange.

The Circle will give a benefit party Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Nannie Myers, 719 South Lyon street, where dessert will be served in advance of bridge and 500 play. There will be special prizes. The public is invited to attend.

February birthdays of Mrs. Martha Vandewalker and Mrs. Mary Schlasman were recognized during the covered-dish luncheon, with decorated cake served as a feature of the dessert course. Handkerchiefs were showered upon the two celebrants.

Decorations for the party included sweet peas, stocks and jonquils which Mrs. Schlasman had provided. Later in the day, the flowers were taken to sick and shut-in members of the group.

Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Schlasman and Mrs. Minnie Squier were hostesses yesterday. Their guests were Mesdames Estelle Grey, Bertie Launsbach, Hattie Cozad, Clara Hillyard, Helen Hilyard, Nannie Myers, Jean Tremble, Mary Cooper, Leona Talbott, Leona Klus, Anna Scott, Frankie Johnson, Florence Merriman, Laura Tramel, Eleanor Pickel, Mary Ann Knox, Martha Vandewalker, with three visitors, Mrs. J. A. Rench, Mrs. E. D. Pratt of Orange and Mrs. Blanche Thompson of Bay City, Tex., guest of her aunt, Mrs. Hattie Cozad.

Announcements

Poetry section members will be received Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. in the home of Miss Blanche Seeley, 2449 Park Boulevard, with Mrs. Frank Jones as chairman of the day. Homecraft section will hold covered-dish luncheon Wednesday at noon in the home of Mrs. Earl Ladd, 514 Wisteria Place.

Torosa Rebekah lodge will hold a regular meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in I. O. O. F. hall. At 9 o'clock guests will join the membership for a valentine fancy dress ball, and a card party, which will include many special features.

Plans To Leave Soon Inspire Farewell Hospitality

Soon to leave for Monterey where she will make her home until next fall, Mrs. Curtis Allen entertained at a farewell party last night in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maylen, 131 Bachman Drive.

Mrs. Allen, who has ben residing here since September, assembled a group of friends from this community for the hospitality. Stocks and snapdragons in valentine colors were used in decorating. The hostess received a lovely bouquet of red rosebuds from Mrs. John J. Vernon.

Mrs. George Holmes and Mrs. Stuart Hillier won prizes for high scores in contract and auction bridge, while Mrs. Paul Anderson won galloping award.

Jello-filled angelfood cake was served to the group who included Mesdames John Turton, John Vernon, Charles Rumell, George Holmes, Paul Anderson, W. P. McGuigan, Ray Wyckoff, all of this city; Mrs. Carter Cannon, Corona; Mrs. Stuart Hillier, Pomona; Mrs. Edith Davis and Miss Garnett Ikemberry, Long Beach; with the hostess, Mrs. Allen and her sister, Mrs. Maylen, who assisted throughout the evening.

Mrs. Allen left today for Long Beach to spend a short time before leaving for Monterey, there to join her husband in establishing their home.

January Bride Feted At Shower Given By Her Sister

When Mrs. Antone Osterkamp received a group of guests at a prettily arranged affair Wednesday afternoon in her home on Heil Road she complimented her sister, Mrs. William Pietzman, who was Miss Johanna Halmen preceding her marriage Friday, January 28.

Covina Sacred Heart Catholic church was scene of the rites, attended by a family group. The bride was attired in a yellow wool frock with rust-hued accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. There were no attendants.

After a honeymon spent in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Pietzman returned to this community to establish their home on Heil Road, where they are neighbors to the Antone Osterkamps. Mr. Pietzman, who came here from Illinois six years ago, is in the dairy business. His bride arrived in California from her native Holland three years ago.

Guests at Mrs. Osterkamp's party were interested in learning details of the couple's wedding. Games were in play during the afternoon, with Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. Charles Borchard and Mrs. John Maring winning prizes in bridge. Mrs. A. A. Mandy and Mrs. Pietzman were rewarded for their high and low scores in 500.

Mrs. Pietzman received gifts of linens, china and pottery from the group. Refreshments were served.

Present were Mesdames Antone Borchard, Charles Borchard, Frank Sheelar, John Norton, Guss Van der Linde, Josephine Schuster, Gus Callens, Sam Osterkamp, Albert Osterkamp, James Colombini, A. A. Mandy, John Maring, Miss Josephine Halmen and the hostess and her honor guest.

The Sawyers Entertain Guardian Council

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sawyer in their home, 1322 Durant street Wednesday evening were Job's Daughters Guardian Council members. They were seated at tables adorned with cellophane-wrapped bowls of candies topped with valentines. These centerpieces were later awarded as special prizes won by Mrs. W. C. McFarren, Roland Rosselot and W. J. Dean.

Cards were played following dinner and a short business meeting. Rewarded for their high and low scores were Mrs. Guy Christian and Mrs. M. W. Ball, among feminine players; E. U. Farmer and Mr. Christian, for men.

Mrs. Sawyer's mother, Mrs. Laura Kesemann assisted the hosts in entertaining. Others present were Messrs. and Mesdames E. U. Farmer, William J. Dean, Roland Rosselot, W. C. McFarren, Guy Christian, Mrs. M. W. Ball and Mrs. J. C. Rogers.

The McFarrens will be hosts to the council Wednesday.

March Wedding Plans Inspire Shower For Mary Jane Gross

Inspired by the March 21 wedding plans of Miss Mary Jane Gross and Jack Kendall, Miss Claire Cullen and Mrs. Allan Titensor joined in giving a party for the bride-elect Wednesday evening in Miss Cullen's home, 1101 South Parton street.

Flowers and other decorations in red and white were in keeping with the valentine motif. The game of hearts was played during the early hours, with prizes going to Miss Mary Tomlinson and Miss Marian Hardin, who scored high and low.

Yellow pottery in service for four was presented to Miss Gross by her assembled friends. They were grouped at tables centered with red and white sweet peas in valentine vases for a climaxing feature during which ice cream roll of heart design was served with festive looking cakes.

Guests of Miss Cullen and Mrs. Titensor were the honoree, Miss Gross, her mother, Mrs. Harry Gross and Mr. Kendall's mother, Mrs. Mabel Kendall; with Mesdames Ralph Coeur, Frank Willis, Walter Martin and the Misses Marian Hardin, Dixie Robinson, Hum Kendall, Gertrude Gross, Jane Wade. Theresa Allen of this vicinity; Mrs. Thomas Pangle, Fullerton; Mrs. Sam Skill, Long Beach.

State, District Heads To Address County Federation

Addresses by Mrs. Duncan Stewart Robinson, president of California Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. David Fraser, Southern District president, highlight a program outlined for a meeting of Orange County Federation's executive board Friday, February 11 in La Habra.

This will be a bi-monthly meeting, with many members and guests expected to attend. Reservations for luncheon, to be served at noon, will be taken by Mrs. Earl Waycott, 901 Kilson Drive not later than next Monday.

The afafir wil be held in La Habra Women's Improvement club headquarters on North Lois street. Beginning at 10 a. m. there will be a business meeting, with Mrs. Fraser as speaker of the morning. Mrs. L. L. Beeman of Santa Ana, county drama chairman, will give a play review.

Past presidents of the County Federation will be honored during luncheon. Mrs. Robinson's address will come as a feature of the afternoon program.

Church Societies

United Presbyterian

Wednesday brought a busy day to women of United Presbyterian church beginning with the morning of quilting and sewing for which Aid society members assembled at the church at 10 a. m. This ended only at the noon hour when all repaired to the dining room for luncheon.

The committee in charge, Mrs. Roy Beall, Mrs. Will McBurney and Mrs. W. W. Hoy, paid deference in table decorations to the patriotic February birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, also suggesting the cheerful hues of the valentine season. Special guests were Dr. Charles P. Russell, president of Assuit College in Egypt and Dr. Alfred E. Kelly, pastor of the church. Dr. Russell spoke briefly when introduced by Mrs. Beall, reserving his main address until the afternoon session of the Missionary society.

The luncheon program included a trio of short talks, Mrs. Beall speaking on Abraham Lincoln, Mrs. McBurney on George Washington and Mrs. Roy on the origin of valentine day.

When Mrs. W. S. Kennedy presided over the Missionary society meeting of the afternoon, devotions led by Mrs. W. H. Herring preceded the program in charge of Miss Ethel Collins, who introduced Dr. Russell. He talked informatively on mission work in Egypt and especially on the college at Assuit and answered innumerable questions called forth by his interesting talk.

Election of officers concluded the session. Mrs. Scott Torrens was named president, Mrs. E. C. Lukens, vice president; Mrs. W. W. Hoy, recording secretary; Miss Minnie Cowan, treasurer; Miss Jane White, temperance secretary; Mrs. Hoy, delegate to the Women's Presbyterial to meet in New Wilmington, Penna.

Lenten Luncheons

Makng plans for a series of Lenten luncheons which will begin Tuesday, March 8, members of Episcopal Church of Messiah Women's Auxiliary met Wednesday afternoon in parish hall. Miss Minnie Besser presided.

Program of the afternoon was provided by the Rev. Thomas Swan of San Pedro, who explained the aims and principles of Seaman's institue located in his home city.

It was announced that luncheons will be served to members and friends of the auxiliary each Tuesday during Lent with the exception of Holy Week. Another affair which will be open to the public will be a hot cake and waffle supper Tuesday evening, March 1, to be served from 5 to 7 o'clock in the parish hall.

Mrs. E. F. Museus and Mrs. George Perkins served refreshments.

M. E. Questers

Meeting with Miss Vivian Vale at 1004 West Camille street, Tuesday night, First M. E. Questers enjoyed a covered dish supper as a preliminary to the business meeting conducted by the president, Miss Joy Townsley. The supper hour was a merry one, with the girls assisted in serving by Mrs. G. F. Vale, mother of the hostess.

After a devotional period led by Miss Olive Schweitzer, reports were given by the Misses Betty Pleis, secretary and Vivian Vale, treasurer. Plans were made for a cooked food sale to be held Saturday in the F. W. Wiesseman store on North Main street.

M. E. Groups

Associated Women of First M. E. church met in the church social hall Wednesday morning for the February session over which Mrs. Henry Guthrie presided. A feature of the morning was the discussion of Home Missionary work accomplished for the nation's youth, with Miss Mary Lamb presenting the subject by means of a large map of the United States with pictures placed indicating institutions maintained by such organizations.

Under direction of Mrs. George Ames, reports were given of activities of the Associated Women and accomplishments of the various circles. Plans were made for a unique school lunch to feature the meeting on March 2, with each member to provide her own menu. This was planned with the series of church night programs in mind. This series opens February 9 and continues for eight weeks.

The morning's devotional program was in charge of Mrs. Carhart who used the missionary adventures of Paul as her theme. Noon luncheon was served by Circle 6.

Women's oFreign Missionary society had the afternoon program which opened with the theme song "Jesus Reigns" led by Mrs. Duane Smith. Mrs. Lawrence as pre-iding officer, introduced Mrs. Horton Palmer who explained the distribution of dues and thank offerings and added information regarding foreign work. Mrs. French read a poem, "Christian Stewardship," and Mrs. Linwood explained a reading contest.

Mrs. William O. Hart of Orange, with Mrs. Jack Snow as accompanist, sang a solo group, "Indian Love Lyrics," by Amy Woodford Finden, before introduction of the guest speaker, Mrs. Pearl Mason. Mrs. Mason, detained on the coast because of war conditions in China, talked on "Triumph of the Indigenous Church in China." Church women were happy to welcome Mrs. John Clarkson, present for the first time after a long illness.

Experiments now under way ultimately will result in elimination of much of the glare from automobile headlights and thereby reduce substantially the present high hizard of night driving.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Illustration by E. H. Gunder

The ports were closed in April. . . . Polly had come out on a ship that ran the blockade.

CHAPTER III

POLLY CHELSEY ran until she was out of breath, mistakenly dashing straight ahead where she should have turned a corner. She stopped to get her bearings and saw that she was lost. The street she was following was unbelievably narrow and was lined with mean little shops over which were shabby living quarters. It led, she saw, down toward the river and lost itself in the fog.

"Good! he'll not find me here!" She meant the young American into whose eyes she had just looked so deeply. She was surprised that this probability caused her more regret than joy. Her brief contact with him had been as electric as lightning. Had he felt the same way? Polly sighed and shrugged and gave herself up to her surroundings, for she had a keen zest for any adventure at hand.

"I don't want to buy a dog," she said. "Let me be!"

"Then I'll drown 'im," stated the boy indifferently, "like the old man told me to." He moved toward the river.

"Wait!" she called to the boy, and when he had stopped and looked back she said quietly, "How much do you ask for the dog?"

"Four shillin'."

"Oh, dear," Polly argued. "I'm not rich. I need every shilling I've got." But she saw the boy had started on again, moving with the apathy of the underfed and hopeless. The street was dropping sharply downward and she could see the gray-white sails of ships like limp clothes on a line. The docks.

"I'll buy the dog," she called. "I'll give you four shillings!"

The boy turned and faced her, so that now the dog was turned aft instead of fore and Polly saw that is had a ridiculous tail that hung like a dirty little banner at half mast. The urchin held out a claw-like hand. "Gimme!" he said.

Polly counted out the money, being careful to hold her purse well out of reach of that grasping claw. "Give me the dog first!" she ordered cannily. . . . "Now go and buy yourself some food."

The boy slid away like a dirty shadow. Polly Chelsey would have thought it an unpleasant dream except that the little dog was in her arms, pressing close to her for warmth and comfort and trying to lick her neck. She said, "I'll name you Nuisance, because that's all you are."

THE fog was lifting and she retraced her steps. Eventually she found her way to Oliver Dart's house. "Lud!" exclaimed Mrs. Broggs, opening the door to her knock, "you gave me a turn. I thought you'd fell into the river, gone so long.—What be that?"

"A dog. I bought him from a boy."

"You never did! Now the master'll be wild for sure. He'll turn you out if you try to keep him. He's got a great fine cat that won't abide a dog on the place. Give the creature here while you go talk to Mr. Dart. He's been calling for you in a great rage."

Polly abandoned Nuisance to Mrs. Broggs and went at once up to Oliver Dart's study. The terrifying old man rasped out, "Sit in that chair, my girl." Then, "Do you know your miserable country's declared itself at war with England?"

"Yes, sir," replied Polly. "I heard it on the street. I'm caught here, and it serves me right. American ports were ordered closed in April, but my cousin's ship ran the blockade. In New England many ships have been doing that. They're Federalists in those states and haven't favored a war. Because it would hurt shipping—"

"Then you admit your President is a dunderhead and that unbalanced Thomas Jefferson who advises him is a fool?"

"Oh, no sir!" answered Polly, rejecting the only cue that might have saved the situation. "I can't feel that way. Nor does my brother Dick, I reckon. The English navy's the cruellest thing on earth, and the most overbearing. You treat your seamen so vilely that you can't get enough to serve you. So your ships stop ours at sea—even our private merchantmen, mind you!—and search for English deserters. When they don't find them, they steal our lads. Then there's the way you've sent the Indians down against our western frontiers out of Canada, burning towns and scalping women and children. That's a pretty tale too, Mr. Dart!"

POLLY paused, startled at her own boldness, yet not recanting. "The only thing I'm ashamed of, Mr. Dart, is that I came out on a ship that ran the blockade."

Oliver Dart said proddingly, "So it's true, as we've heard, that you Americans don't stick together, eh? Your country's divided?"

"Don't feel too encouraged over that," said Polly maliciously. "We have our private quarrels, but let England try to pry us apart—!"

"England will not have to pry you apart," Oliver Dart said with a cold precision. "She will take you in a lump and annex you. You will be our colonies again, as the King wills. . . . Do you know the size of the English navy, my girl?"

"No, sir," answered Polly, shivering.

"Eight hundred men of war.—How many ships has the American navy?"

Nor had the angry man who had questioned her. Had they realized, those two, that America had but seven frigates and 15 sloops to meet those 800 men-of-war, the old man might have had a stroke brought on by mirth and the girl might have been broken by despair.

"You don't know," said Oliver Dart thoughtfully, and he closed his eyes and put his finger tips together. "I wonder! . . . It occurs to me that you're very knowing about some things and very blank about others. It occurs to me that you might have come to England on some mission for your tricky government.—Yes! And using your relationship to me as a ruse."

"Well, my girl, there are government prisons for such as you! More than one French woman has seen the inside of a cell in England. There should be some small stone boudoirs available for prying American women, too."

POLLY'S hand went to her throat, and her eyes widened. So the old man was mad! Not in entirety; only on one subject. She had been foolish and reckless to argue with him. She must leave—

While Oliver Dart's eyes were shut and his finger tips were touching each other delicately she backed quietly toward the door and slipped out of the room, more frightened than she had ever been in all her 18 years.

She was still in her coat and bonnet. She ran down the stairs and was about to open the street door when she saw the little terrier she had bought and completely forgotten. He was in a corner of the hall where Mrs. Broggs had abandoned him, and when he saw Polly he came eagerly toward her on his ugly little legs, a look of delight and welcome on his face. Polly stooped and picked him up.

"You're a nuisance," she said softly. "I gave you the right name. I'll never be rid of you."

She went out into the street, determined to find a tavern that bore a sign with a unicorn and crown on it. She thought desperately, yet with a surge of happiness, "I must find Jerry Whitfield!"

Dinner Party Honors Guests From Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Syoc and nephew, Laverne Van Syoc of Winfield, Ia., who are spending the winter at 708 West Fourth street, were complimented at a charmingly arranged dinner party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Newcomer, 110 East Eleventh street.

Bouquets of sweet peas provided floral decorations while place cards and other decorative details suggested the valentine season. A Southern baked ham menu was served and the remainder of the evening given over to games and conversation.

With Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer and their daughter, Miss Maryann Newcomer, were their complimented guests, Mr. and Mrs. Van Syoc and Laverne Van Syoc, Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ritner and daughter, Miss Helen Betty Ritner, Mrs. Effie M. Crawford, Harvey Ritner and son Horace Ritner, all of this city and Tustin.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

In planning appetizers for a party see that they are the kind that taste well, look well, and handle easily. Remember, most of your guests will be standing up and one hand will probably be occupied, so make non-drip appetizers if you value your standing as a hostess.

Toasted cheese fingers we have with us always, and they are good if brought in in relays, piping hot. A bowl of cheese fluff flanked by crisp potato chips is another fine one. For picture value make folded sandwiches called "Calla Lilies."

The bread must be very fresh, cut in thin slices, crusts removed. Have ready thin slices of pickle—dill or sweet-sours—cut so the slices are square rather than flat. Make up a savory spread with plenty of mayonnaise for the bread. Spread a slice, arrange the pickle slice diagonally, so that it will come close to the middle of the slice; roll to resemble a lily cup (tight at bottom of pickle stem, flaring at top.) Stick a wood pick on an angle through pickle and folded bread . . . and there you have it, a yellow lily with stamen of green. Piled bouquet-fashion on a tray of silver, they are almost too perfect to eat.

A Tasty Pork Pie For Six

4 Large apples, sliced
Pinch of allspice and pepper, salt.
2 Cups water
Flour to dredge meat
Rich biscuit dough for top of dish.

Set the oven at 300 degrees of heat, and put a large skillet over a hot fire. Roll the chops, cut in pieces, in seasoned flour and brown quickly in a little fat. Arrange alternate layers of apple and pork in a shallow baking dish,, season and add water to come to top of apple. Bake in the slow oven almost 3 hours, then increase heat, cover top with thin rounds of rich biscuit dough, bake and serve from dish.

There are many who regard tomatoes et al in clam chowder as rank heresy. I belong to that class, and have chosen the old-style chowder as the second recipe

Clam Chowder

3 Slices, each, bacon and dry salt pork, cut in shreds; Fry crisp in a dry skillet.
6 medium sized onions, peeled, diced and fried in the fat.
4 Large potatoes, peeled, diced and cooked in salted water then (drain)
1 Quart scalded milk
1 Or 2 cans of minced clams
Butter, salt and pepper
6 Or 8 crackers, rolled to crumbs.

Add the fried onions (they must not be the least bit brown or yellowed) and cooked potatoes to the hot milk. Boil up, add a tiny pinch of soda, then the clams, butter, salt and pepper. Bring to a gentle simmer and add the crackers. Serve in bowls with additional crackers.

TRIAL AND ERROR

"What are you trying to do now" Mother's tone was that of one tried beyond endurance.

"I'm just trying to see if I can't make this motor go."

"I wish you would stop such monkey business and do something worth doing. You can waste more time doing nothing than any two boys your size and age. What good will it do you if you make it go?"

"If I can make it go I can use the old car for lots of things."

"Nonsense. In the first place you can't make that old thing go. In the next place your father would not allow you to use the old car on the road. You'd kill yourself or somebody else. Leave off this messing about and do something. I'm just worn out watching you try first one thing and then another. You're never through."

"Goodness sakes, mother, I got to do something, haven't I? I want to try to make this go. Give me a chance, can't you?"

The miracle happened and the motor did go. He managed to get it into the old car and make it go too. Then he got a license and used his car to carry junk which he sorted and sold. He delivered papers. He did lots of errands, saving time that he put on other experiments. To be sure, the contraption did not last long, but long enough to give the boy a feeling of success and power, and that was something beyond measure, valuable to any boy.

Whatever we learn is learned by the trial-and-failure, trial-and success method. It is the desire to try something new, to bend every energy toward succeeding in it, that makes children and grown people, grow. The child who sits still may give you no trouble at the time, but he is likely to grieve you to the heart by his failure to go no place, get nowhere, fail flatly. It is the restless, eager, trying child who goes from where he is to the heights beyond his horizon. As he says, "give me a chance."

When a child plans to do something that you feel is certain to end in failure try to explain your point of view to him. Try to show him why his idea won't work. If after that he still wants to go ahead let him, unless the cost of failure would be dangerous. A personally conducted failure is far more informative than an imposed success. The failure is the outcome of the child's own thinking, desires and effort, and touches him, affects his life. The imposed success is another's thought and another's desire and another's success and touches the child's life scarcely at all, and then to his disadvantage.

Say, "If you want to do this I won't stand in your way, I'll hope you can make it go. But you must understand that you will shoulder the consequences of the undertaking yourself." That means that if he runs out of money, if he loses his money and materials, you do not rush to the rescue and supply him again. His failure must educate him to try again with the mistakes eliminated. Taking the consequences off his shoulders takes the education along.

Don't get angry about this sort of thing. Be good-humored; let him try; let him alone while he tries, and afterward, Put yourself in his place and give him the same chance you would like in his position.

DEMOCRATS TO HEAR TALK BY CULBERT OLSON

Senator Culbert Olson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats to be held at 7:30 p. m. February 25 in the Santa Ana Junior college auditorium.

Plans for the meeting were announced today by H. C. Head, chairman of the assembly, who also announced that, at 6 p. m. the same night officers and directors of the assembly will meet with members of the executive board at a dinner in Daniger's cafe. This will be the first meeting of officers and directors of the assembly since its reorganization.

To Hear Candidates

Head said that at a recent meeting of members of the executive committee it was decided to have all candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor appear at meetings of the assembly and speak.

This, he said, is done to give members of the organization and others who attend the meetings an opportunity to hear the various candidates and form their own opinions. The assembly will support no candidate during the primaries but will unite with other groups to select the successful candidate at the general election.

"Sales Congress" To Open In City Hall Here Tuesday

Final plans for the "Sales Congress" to be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Santa Ana city council chambers, under sponsorship of the Orange County Life Underwriters' association, were announced today by W. A. Moore jr., president of the association.

Moore said today that in addition to talks by outstanding men in the insurance field there will be a program of entertainment featuring Billy Ward, Santa Ana accordionist. A nominal admission charge will be made for everyone attending except wives of underwriters and general insurance agents.

The program will be presented by the "Caravan Committee" of the Los Angeles Life Underwriters' association, with W. Eugene Hays, formerly of this city, acting as chairman.

Negro History To Be Meeting Theme

The Santa Ana unit of the Women's Political Study Club will sponsor a program in honor of National Negro History Week at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building, it was announced today by Mrs. Leroy Burks, president of the club. Mrs. E. Wyatt will be educational chairman, and Mrs. Earle Clarke publicity chairman. The public is invited to attend the program.

FOR PURPOSES OF PERSECUTION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An anonymous correspondent who signs himself "Jew-Hater" and suggests that my real name is Isadore Cohen, writes as follows: "Throughout the world the Jew is on the run, being driven from every white man's country, and the same thing will happen here. For your information let me inform you there are three distinct organizations already formed to attend to the Jews in New York, so watch your step."

So the fatal wheel has turned full circle and we who call ourselves progressives must take our stand. In my business and professional life I have found very little to choose between the Chosen People and the Nordic elect in the matter of honesty, ability and congeniality, or the reverse. My start in journalism came under Adolph Ochs's "New York Times" and Simon & Schuster were at one time my publishers. The only two serious double-crosses in my career came from persons who happened to be, like myself, the sons of Protestant clergymen. I also visited Germany in 1932, and was so much impressed by the drive and morale of the Hitler movement that I suffered in my income and reputation because it was assumed by some people that I was therefore pro-Nazi, and in my writings I have consistently refused to take part in the hysteria of boycotts and propaganda involving the tragic People of the Book.

Now, if America is to be the scene of another orgy of Ku Klux intolerance, with Nazi trimmings or home-brewed hatred of any race, creed or color, I wish to be included, for purposes of pogroms, among the prospective victims of the Nordic fury. I am not a Jew but, with human liberty at stake, perhaps I can rank as one, honoris causa. I'd just as soon be killed as live in the sort of country where men seek to evade their own blunders by persecuting people whose noses, skins, social customs or religious ideals are slightly different from their own.

Now is the time for solidarity among all those who feel that the good society cannot be based on torture and suppression. To perpetuate the American caste-system founded on the systemataic terrorization of the Negroes and on the social exclusion, degradation and abuse of other racial and religious groups will simply breed the blind panic which destroys whole societies or leads to a Hindu stagnation. The world has long been struggling to free itself from the tyranny of an international society based on war. Can it survive domestic institutions based on the torture of helpless minorities?

Too long have we been content with a namby-pamby "tolerance" towards those whom certain groups of our population regard as "aliens." Adjustment to local prejudice or flexibility in regional attitudes is one thing. It is another to put forward as a serious proposition that lawfully admitted citizens of this country are not entitled to all the liberties which our general system of government accords.

For generations, we held to the theory that an Indian had no rights which a white man was bound to respect. Our expression —"a Chinaman's chance"—originated in the murderous brutality of the early Western miners toward the Asiatics. For generations we have despised, feared or hated the Negro whom we enslaved and the Mexican whom we despoiled.

Now that we have shut off mass-immigration, this nation has a chance to evolve a new and vital race, a civilization which will be culturally rich as well as socially dynamic. The great danger to our own future lies in these cyclones of simian malice, this yapping at cheap labels, these hunts for scape-goats with a pack of red herrings. So, to paraphrase Sam Goldwyn, when the Black Hundreds, Black Legions,

Copyright, 1938, Register and sand-per cent Nordics start hunting for their victims, "exclude me in" for the purposes of persecution.

LATE NEWS OF ORANGE AND VICINITY

SPEAKER TELLS JAPAN POSITION

ORANGE, Feb. 4.—The position of Japan in regard to the war in China was defended yesterday by Dr. Ken Nakazawa of the department of Oriental studies of the University of Southern California, who was the speaker at a meeting of the Orange Rotary club.

Tells China Program

"China has planned to win her cause by winning the support of the United States," he said. "Not only must the United States consider the loss of trade with Japan—three times as much as that of the trade of this country with China—but the nation also must consider the great sacrifice which would be entailed should it take the part of China in the present conflict.

"The talk that Japan would attempt to conquer the United States is grammar school talk and kindergarten technique.

"A serious argument advanced by China is that Japan is the aggressor and this argument is brought about because Japan is fighting the war in China."

Many stories of the Chinese war have come not only from the pens of reporters but from the pens of Chinese diplomats, the speaker declared, as he closed by stating China looks outward for the causes of unrest and trouble rather than looking inward, he said.

America Praised

When a nation lives close to a less civilized nation, problems are likely to ensue, Dr. Nakazawa pointed out, especially when that nation is engaged in constant civil war. Paying high tribute to America in its desire for peace and for its high standards, the speaker closed by saying that China is considered to be the underdog by many "while sympathy is extended to the underdog, consideration also might be extended to the man who is being bitten by the underdog," he said.

HOLD FIRST OF STUDY MEETINGS

ORANGE, Feb. 4.—The first of a series of five study group meetings for school and pre-school mothers was conducted at the Killefer school yesterday. The class is sponsored by the Orange P.-T. A. and is directed by Mrs. R. C. Mearis.

The hours of the first meeting were spent in selecting subjects to be studied in the next four gatherings. Topics chosen were "Mental Hygiene," which will be discussed at the next meeting; "Obedience and Discipline, Sex Training," "How to Win Friends and Influence People," which will be reviewed, and "Inferiority Complex, Day Dreaming, Introversion and Extroversion."

All mothers are welcomed to attend the series which will be held each Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Killefer school.

HOOVER SCHOOL P.-T. A. GROUP HOLDS PROGRAM

Featured by an impressive Founders' day program and entertainment of prominent guests, members of the Hoover school P.-T. A. met yesterday at the school.

Mrs. Walter Fine and Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, the chief speakers for the occasion, paid tribute to Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and Mrs. Alice Birney, co-founders of the parent-teachers' movement in the United States 40 years ago.

Another highlight of the luncheon session was the commendation of past presidents of the Hoover group, and the introduction of the Jefferson P.-T. A. officers and members, headed by Mrs. C. H. Holles, who introduced the following past presidents of her organization: Dr. Hester Olewiler, Dr. Stella Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer. They were accompanied by 25 members of the organization.

The past presidents of the Hoover contingent who were honored were Mesdames C. E. Bressler, Otto Schroeder, U. H. Plavan, John Ball, H. J. Howard and E. D. Froeschle. Mrs. A. L. Hellberg, of San Diego, another past president, was unable to attend and sent her regrets.

Mrs. John J. Vernon, president of the Hoover group, presented corsages to all past presidents, and to Mrs. Allison Honer, who was program chairman.

Mrs. Honer introduced the program numbers, which included a solo by Joan Hockaday, with Miss Helen Glancy, accompanying, an accordion solo by Marjorie Bowman, and a group of songs by the Girls' glee club of Willard Junior High school, under direction of Miss Esther Jean Davis, and the Boys' Glee club, led by Herbert Micheal.

Mrs. Harry Huffman was chairman of the hostess committee, which included Mesdames Stanley Reinhaus, Milo Tedstrom, Harold Maylen, T. A. Willis, Leon Lauderbach, Deane Smiley and J. A. Randall.

The tea hour was marked by the presentation of a large cake that bore the blue and gold colors of P.-T. A., and four large tapers that were lighted in connection with the ceremony.

2 YOUTHS GET COURT MERCY

Judge James L. Allen today granted probation to Ernest Griffith and L. H. Dietrick who pleaded guilty to charges of grand theft of an automobile.

The two youths, friends since childhood, were granted probation for a period of three years providing they spend six months in the county jail. At the expiration of their jail sentences the youths must have someone willing to sponsor them and return to Texas for the remainder of their probationary period.

Cites Another Case

Griffith and Dietrick pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile in Anaheim and starting for Texas. They said they were drunk when they stole the car and were not entirely sober when arrested in Winslow, Ariz.

In granting probation, Judge Allen cited the case of another youth who, he said, formerly walked the streets of this city without a coat, hat or money. He fell in love with a girl and her father purchased a store, gave the youth employment and allowed him to marry the girl. Recently, the judge said, the youth demanded a raise in salary from his wife's father and when it was not forthcoming, administered a beating.

HEFFRON ELECTED NIGHT BALL PREXY

his San Bernardino wanted to become a permanent member of the National chain. He said the old American league had definitely dissolved.

At the suggestion of Vic Ruedy, president of the Orange County Night league, a committee was appointed to meet with and invite Brea and Irvine into the circuit. Ruedy said he believed both clubs were fully prepared to hold their own in National league company and that such a movement would help everybody concerned. Ruedy's suggestion was greeted enthusiastically.

Anaheim Stars Released

Only fireworks of an otherwise surprisingly docile meeting was provided by Billy Feistner, retiring business manager of the Anaheim Valencias, league champions. Feistner announced that he was making free agents of 13 players —Lyle Morse, Wilbur Stinchfield, "Beny" Wilcox, Jimmy Stives, Mal Higgins, George Preble, Leavitt Daley, Cliff Edmundson, Terry Griffith, Herman Kornder, Dave Webb, Floyd Montgomery and Randolph Bell, the latter reverting to Westminster. Anaheim's commission president, William P. Webb, jr., protested the legality of this but, as Feistner still was accredited manager of the club when he gave the release, the league held he was within his rights.

A proposal to split all gate receipts on a 60-40 division, the 60 per cent going to the home team, was tabled until the next meeting which will be called as soon as Heffron is contacted.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(UP) — A statement by a White House secretary that President Rosoevelt believed a majority of recommendations made by small business men were possible of fulfillment sent the stock market higher today after a decline to new lows since 1935.

The advance was quiet, many traders staying on the sidelines pending action on the business men's plans.

Meantime, business reports continued to reflect lack of demand. Automobile production slipped off to 51,443 units for teh present week, compared with 55,365 last week, and 72,010 in the 1937 week, according to Ward's reports. The report noted improvement in used car sales and predicted a pickup next week in new car production. Packard cut prices of its 6-cylinder models by $100. This was expected to be followed by other automobile makers. It was expected also to bring presure for cuts in other prices, notably steel.

Car loadings declined and Dunn & Bradstreet reported retail distribution slackened.

WOULD-BE-BANDIT NABBED BY POLICE

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Police said a youth taken into custody across the street from Mae West's apartment today admitted he lurked there to rob movie stars when they stopped their cars in front of the garage of a Hollywood apartment building.

Alfred Borie, 19, who told officers he had been an artworker in New Jersey, was booked on suspicion of robbery, burglary and possession of a deadly weapon. Police said he was carrying a .32 caliber pistol, a blackjack and a box of 48 cartridges.

"I figured on waiting in front of the garage and 'clipping' them when they got out of their cars," police quoted him as saying. "But they drove right on in without stopping."

Borie told officers he had been here only two days, but that he "had heard where some of the movie stars lived."

BORN IN TRANSIT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 4. —(UP)—Harry Mowrar, a printer, applied for permanent registration under the city's new voting law. After the question, place of birth, he put "in transit." In eviednce whereof he produced a clipping describing the birth of a son to Mrs. Hattie Mowrar on a train between Jefferson City and Kansas City, in 1903.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Wheat trading turned dull on the Chicago Board of Trade today after early buying had brought out the largest volume in weeks and sent prices into firmer ground.

At the close wheat was 7/8 to 1 1/8 cents higher, corn ¼ to ½ cent higher and oats unchanged to 1/8 cent higher.

Overnight export business was fair, consisting mainly of 300,000 bushels of Manitobas.

Corn took its cue from wheat, but responded mildly. Light export demand and beneficial rainfall in the Argentine discouraged enterprise. Receipts here totaled 119 cars.

IT SHOULD SELL, Because the best inducement to buy is price, a low price. There are two sides to this story—it's a double house. That makes a double income. The price is $3,750.00, the income $50.00 or better. Figure that out and you'll find it will pay better than most of your investments. It's close in, tenants walk. You'll like it.

DOLLAR DAY

Once again, the dollar goes to town tomorrow.

By leaps and bounds the popularity of recurring dollar days has grown. This one centering in Santa Ana tomorrow gives promise of being the greatest of the lot.

Thousands of dollars will pass back and forth across counters in unsurpassed example of trading spirit. Both merchants and buyers will join in a friendly exchange of bargain commodities and money.

Into the hundreds of new homes which have sprung up in Orange county will go goods of many stores to add to the comforts of residents. Every sale will reflect and enhance a mutual prosperity.

The friendliness of Dollar Day is becoming proverbial. As sales grow, so should the friendliness. That is just one of the benefits.

Santa Ana merchants have stocked their shelves with mighty fine bargains for this event. The customer will benefit by bargains and the merchant will benefit by increased sales.

WAR OF WORDS

Just before dawn, a strange automobile filled with soldiers has been seen to approach as near Madrid as the fighting lines permit.

Picking a position where the wind is favorable, this unit shoots high skyrockets over the city. The rockets burst, and thousands of small sheets of paper flutter downward. On them is Rebel propaganda: "To prolong resistance is to sacrifice life needlessly." "Soon Spain will be ours."

Americans will remember how our forces worked the same dodge on the Germans in the concluding months of the World war. "We are not fighting the German people; we are fighting your masters." "We have food; better surrender." It is believed by many students to have been a big factor in the final German collapse.

Increasingly, day by day, the world's battles are being fought not only by bombs, but by bombast.

AFTER THIRTY-ONE YEARS

After 31 years of planning, working, studying and programming, the Ebell club opened its new home to the public this week.

It was in 1907 that the club was founded with Mrs. Katherine Dyer as charter president. Gathered around Mrs. Dyer were 25 other women. From that group has developed one of the finest Ebell clubs in the state. The membership today is nearing the 200 mark.

Down through the years the members of the Anaheim club have had a definite goal—a clubhouse of their own. Today that goal has been attained. The ambitions of more than a quarter of a century have been realized. The club refused to start a building until it could see its way clear for financing.

At the reception held this week. Mrs. Dyer came from her home in Hollywood and was one of the honored guests.

Of the original 26 members there are eight still affiliated with the club.

The Anaheim Ebell club is deserving of all the praise that has been heaped upon it during the last few weeks. Today the home is complete and well furnished. At the formal dedication Mrs. A. P. M. Brown, president, accepted the building from the contractor.

Congratulations to the Anaheim Ebell club.

THE HOLDING COMPANY

Destruction of "all holding companies" would revolutionize industrial America. Its bitterest effects would be felt by the millions of citizens who own stocks and bonds, and by the institutions to which they entrusted their savings. For, as financial experts pointed out, about half of the widely-held securities outstanding in this country represent corporations which are wholly or partly holding companies by nature.

The "big board" of the New York Stock Exchange, the world's principal market place for securities, lists hundreds of concerns of this kind, concerns whose stocks are owned by the butcher, baker and candlestick maker, as well as large investors.

The holding company came into existence and has remained in existence for a very good reason—it gave the people better services and products for less money. Utility holding companies have been largely responsible for the amazing progress made by the gas and electric industries. Holding companies for automobiles, petroleum, processed foods, clothing and a hundred other commodities have been mighty factors in improving the American standard of living.

The holding company, by providing unified control and production, lessens and eliminates waste. It provides the most efficient management. It is able to produce, distribute and sell products and services at a minimum cost.

The public should be adequately protected against holding company abuses—or abuses by any other form of business or political manipulations. If the present laws are ineffectual, they can be rewritten. But you can't entirely destroy the holding company without uprooting American industry as we know it today—at the expense of every man with a job, a few shares of stock, a bond or two, or money in the bank.

"NO MONETARY MANIPULATIONS WILL TURN THE TRICK"

Leonard P. Ayers, in his article in the February issue of the Atlantic Monthly entitled "This Business Relapse," makes this statement which should astound everyone who has been given the impression that business can be again stimulated by inflation:

He says, "No new monetary manipulation will turn the trick this time."

The confidence of the people who have been attempting to build and do things that added wealth, has been dissipated by the government as never before.

Daniel Webster, speaking to the senate a little over a century ago, on the question of finding a solution for our lack of confidence said, "Confidence is a thing not to be produced by compulsion. Men cannot be forced into trust."

When the government and the voters come to the opinion that you can force business men to take risks to employ labor, to try to make profits, to try to produce wealth when they do not believe they can, is contrary to human nature.

Our Only Hope

Of course, our legislators will do what the public wants. Our only hope is to so arouse the working people, the farmers and the little business men to the point that they will insist that the demagogic politicians stop their nefarious interference with private initiative with men who are willing to take risks and insist on the politicians doing only what any good government should do—protect the rights of life and the pursuit of happiness of every individual without discrimination. Our only hope is that as people begin to realize that the politicians are not men with foresight, that they do not have judgment enough to plan and manage business, they will insist on them permitting men who have made life studies of the myriads of forms of businesses being permitted to use their best judgment in creating wealth, reducing costs and furnishing employment.

If this would be done, our standard of living would be at least twice as high as it has been for the last eight years.

TAXING GOODWILL INSTEAD OF ILLWILL

The reason income tax lowers the standard of living is that it taxes people with goodwill just the same as those with illwill who get their income by chicanery and taking advantage of the ignorance of other people.

To tax a man for adding to the wealth of the country is to obstruct the man of goodwill from doing the thing that is the best way ever devised for helping the poor.

We should, however, always tax a man for illwill—for lack of cooperation. To tax a man for subtracting from the wealth of the country is to tax illwill.

A graduated tax on consumption, instead of a graduated tax on income resulting from production, would be taxing a man for illwill and not taxing a man for goodwill.

A tax of this kind would enable those with goodwill and ability to use their talents and their genius to the full to reduce the real cost of things for people and to raise real wages.

Experiment 25 Years Old

We started the experiment of taxing goodwill 25 years ago. We thought we would be taxing illwill.

Is not the fact that one-fifth of our workers have been out of work for the past eight years enough evidence that one of the causes of our trouble is taxing men with goodwill instead of those with illwill? When we get poor enough, necessity will compel us to change. But why need we have more men out of work before we learn one of the primary causes? Necessity is the mother of thinking.

Has not the undistributed profits tax, which really put the principle of taxing men with goodwill to a practical test, demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that taxing income resulting from adding to the wealth of the world is hurting the very people it was intended to help?

PUBLIC OPINION MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER

Never was there a time since the Constitution was formed that public opinion was as important as it is at present. With the supreme court practically ruling that the voting majority can make most any laws they desire, infringing upon personal rights, what the public then believes becomes infinitely more important than it did when the Constitution protected the minority from the tyranny of the voting majority.

Public opinion now attempts to determine what hourly wages shall be. They believe that wages can be established by the voting majority. The result is that they are so artifically high that only the most efficient workers as a rule can secure private jobs. Public opinion does not realize as yet that these people who cannot secure jobs because of public opinion as to wages, must be supported by reducing the real wages of all those who are privately employed.

Public opinion now has the right to determine how much, if any, profits may be retained by the entrepreneur. Public opinion now has the right to select, through their President and representatives what constitutes a day's work.

Public opinion can by this method and through the labor unions ruin any business man, because there is no man who can survive on a competitive basis if some other individual has the right to select his help or tell him who he must hire and who he may discharge.

There never was a time when public opinion was as important as it is now. If we cannot in the very near future get public opinion to understand the responsibility of this new power that has been granted to the enlarged right of franchise, by practically eliminating the Constitution of the United States, there will be little hope of having many comforts to share.

"Why Mother Gets Gray"

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the President's armament message, he observed that "the time has come for the Congress to enact legislation aimed at the prevention of profiteering in time of war."

One of the worst aspects of war is price inflation. War creates instantaneous shortages of almost everything. That results in panicky bidding for the scant supply and sends prices soaring. This process is intensified by the effect of war on money and credit. The country is plunging headlong into debt. Its existence is threatened. The value of its money is therefore in doubt. It takes more and more money to buy everything, whether there is a shortage or not.

This may be more dangerous than the loss of many battles. It ruins the morale of both the military and the civilian population. The great bulk of us who live on wages or salaries or other forms of fixed income ,are the first and heaviest sufferers. Our income does not go up in step with prices. Very soon the whole civilian population is suffering privation.

This is particularly true of families of men at the front. Necessarily living on low incomes themselves, they hear of the sufferings of their own people and of the fortunes made by receivers of high prices. The inevitable result is hot resentment at the government. In several German war memoirs, this is given as the principal cause of the German collapse.

Such runaway rises in price (depreciation of the value of money) have another military effect. Modern war requires such vast expenditures for material, much of which has to be bought abroad, that the mountainous prices and the vanishing credit of the country sometimes make it impossible to support the sheer money cost of the war. It is now very clear that if we had not entered the World War just when we did, and taken on our shoulders the burden of their debts and spending, the defenses of the Allies would have collapsed. They were at the end of their financial tether.

The President is right. We must avoid war profiteering and inflation. The way to do that is to put a ceiling over prices as soon as war is imminent, and to confiscate all profits due to war by a 100 per cent tax on all profits in excess of the average of the past three years profits in peace.

But that is not what the proposed onnally Bill would do. It goes further than taking all profits due to war or eliminating profiteering. Though not quite as drastic as the old Nye proposals, it is cut from the same cloth. The idea in both suggestions is, "when war comes, abolish the profits system"—not "to take all the profits due to war" but "in war, to take all profits." There is a distinction as wide as the difference between victory and defeat and any such measure would be as dangerous to victory as no measure at all.

It applies the present ruinous undistributed profits tax and intensifies it. It tends to abolish the profit incentive to production.

Ours is still a profit economy. It persuades men to work, effort and production by the hope of gain. The only alternative is the fascist or communist idea of compelling effort and production by the fear of punishment. Our profits incentive has worked to the greatest result of production in history. The compulsion idea is an unproved experiment. War demands not less production than peace, but immeasurably greater production.

It seems an act of madness now by statute to attempt to compel an dogmatically asserts: "It is superstitious ignorance to consider it (the Bible) as the unquestionable word of God." With the truth of falsity of this rather arrogant assumption I may not be qualified to deal, but I can say, without fear of successful contradiction, that in the conception of Job, Colbeck has "written his book;" for, if it is stupid to call Mr. Colbeck a devil because he does not accept the Bible as the word of God; it certainly must be just as stupid on his part to call those who do "ignorant and superstitious"; so long as both assertions are advanced as mere assertions, without a scintilla of evidence in either case.

Again Mr. Colbeck says: "The veneration of the Book has developed a subconscious attitude of mind that has left Christendom apathetic." True or false, this statement standing alone might be difficult to disprove; but in the same paragraph he recklessly writes: "The majority of people rightly relegate the story of the fall of man into the ranks of a myth."

Again Mr. Colbeck has done just what Job wanted his adversaries to do, for not the most adroit sophistry can reconcile the two contradictory statements.

If only the minority venerate the Book, and if as Mr. Colbeck so arrogantly asserts, they are the ignorant and superstitious, then it is entirely outside the realm of human probability that this ignorant few should have such a hopelessly apathetic effect upon the intelligent majority. It just doesn't seem to make sense.

Too much tail—not enough dog! Mr. Colbeck's "book" seems to me to contain many more, even more contradictory statements, but space will not permit their consideration in this article. I hope to consider others in some future issue.

LEW BETTS.

Editor Register: In this rapidly changing age with many new and progressive means and methods presenting themselves in every activity it has seemed strange to me that our form of education has not heretofore benefited by research and experience.

That there are now attempts being made to bring a long out-moded educational system up to date is music to a fond mother's ears. I wish to express my joy that one of my daughters is enabled to start out her schooling under such improved practices.

This daughter happens to be under the same teacher and in the same grade as one dissatisfied mother's son who recently wrote a letter of protest in your column saying she was changing her son to a private school. I think in all fairness the other side of the question might be shown.

It is too true that these new practices have met with opposition. Instead of looking behind the methods which have been introduced, alarm has spread that the three R's are no longer to be taught, that communism is taking possession of our schools and our children are only allowed to play with blocks and color pictures.

Such is not the case I am convinced. In my daughter's grade the teacher there is only striving to be just in her judgments as she has divided up the class into their respective groups. Some more advanced than others have been started reading already. Others among whom my child is numbered, are being trained carefully in preparation for more advanced work which if forced on this group now would only serve to bewilder them.

That reading or writing or arithmetic is not prominently displayed in books is true. But if the children play with blocks there is reason, either mathematical or otherwise for doing so. If they color, the picture has a story behind it and is a definite object lesson for all.

In my first graders first semester two very worthwhile projects have been called to my attention. One was the preparation by this class of a luncheon which included grape jelly, potato salad, butter, bread and cookies and was enjoyed by all. Another one was the construction of a harbor, complete with light houses, buoys, different kinds of ships, etc., with an adjacent airport. Fun? Of course the whole class has enjoyed these projects immensely, but this does not mean they have gained nothing from them.

The actual making of the butter and other foods will stay with the youngsters much better than the mere reading it from a book. Points too numerous to mention were brought out in this project alone (including table manners) which impressed me greatly. The construction of boats and airplanes for the harbor was a tremendous task (from the six year old point of view) but the children reaped much more knowledge than could be gained in a less interesting way.

This system has only been in our schools one semester. Let us not be too hasty to judge the efforts being put forth to better our schools. One has only to look at the failure of the past to realize the needs of the present. Our children have different world problems to meet today than they did yesterday. Let them make school so interesting and vital that it can compete successfully with a now seemingly more interesting world and there will be no need for truant officers.

Much remains to be recognized as true education, but for the better understanding our teachers have today, and for the attempt being made to improve the long neglected and much deplored educational system I am indeed grateful.

Editor Register:

In what is probably the most ancient of all Hebrew literature the patriarch Job is quoted as saying:

"Oh that mine adversary had written a book," suggesting I think, that such literary effort might peradventure, have led his adversary into some untenable controversial position. Well, mine adversary, or rather, more technically, the adversary of the Book which the experiences of a lifetime has taught me to revere, has "written a book."

Our mutual friend, Edwin O. Colbeck, in his many vindictive attacks upon the Bible and Bible readers, in the columns of the Register's Clearing House, has used more than the space sufficient to fill the pages of an ordinary book, and a careful review of Mr. Colbeck's many interesting contributions has confirmed me in the conclusion that said Mr. Colbeck has maneuvered himself into that decidedly untenable position when Job would have been so delighted to see his enemies entrenched.

In his several contributions Mr. Colbeck has made a great many unwarantable and inconsistent, even contradictory statements which I purpose in this and following articles to review. Space will not permit adequate criticism in our contribution.

January 31st Mr. Colbeck rather pertinently says: "The attempt to refute criticism of the Bible by calling me a devil is stupid." Rather incisive, yet with the sentiment involved I am disposed to agree; but how does Mr. Colbeck's own attitude toward his opponents harmonize with this standard he prescribes for his critics?

SUNSHINE ALONE IS NOT SUFFICIENT TO PROTECT CHILDREN FROM RICKETS

Again and again the public has been told that in most places in the United States there is insufficient sunshine to protect children from rickets. No matter how much sunning parents are able to accomplish, the sunshine alone is usually insufficient.

In Chicago, Toronto, New York, and other large cities, there are only two hours in a day, three months in the year, when the sunshine is sufficient to be of real value as a rickets preventive.

Now a number of doctors in Portland, Ore., and in San Diego, Calif., have co-operated in comparative study of the effects of sunshine in these two cities.

They offer the definite conclusions that under modern living conditions abundant sunshine does not furnish adequate protection against rickets, and that it is absolutely necessary that some definite dietic or medicinal assistance be given to every child.

Portland has an average of 2194 hours of sunshine per year compared with 3024 hours in San Diego. During the rainy winter season, the sun may not appear in Portland for days at a time, and in the winter the weather is frequently freezing or near freezing.

San Diego has a sunny, mild climate in winter, and would seem to offer greater advantages in the prevention of rickets.

The investigators have carefully studied the records of selected groups of children in these two cities concerning their growth, development of bones and teeth, whether they had taken medicine in addition to being exposed to sunshine, and also the kind of clothing worn.

The high percentage of rickets in both cities suggested that the clothing, housing and dieting tend to modify the anti-rachitic value of sunshine, and may also affect the usefulness of various preparations that are given to prevent rickets.

Altogether, 943 children of about five years of age were examined in the two cities. There were approximatly an equal number of boys and girls, and there were blonds, brunets, and children of various races.

The children in Portland had been nursed by their mothers on an average of about 6 1-4 months; the children in San Diego about 7 1-3 months.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—A confidential blue letter sent out to business men by one of the responsible business advisory services here is causing some inner official perturbation.

The letter implies there is "master minding" somewhere in the administration for the development of state socialism. The accusation is made that un-named government officials do not want business to recover in order that they may institute a "gigantic" movement for government ownership and subsidization. The letter doubts that the White House is conscious of such a movement, but says the ultimate consequence of it would be the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt "again and again."

The accusation is apparently not based on direct information, but upon deductions from recent public events—proposals for government purchase of utilities in the TVA region and the anthracite mines. Other similar events which are being mentioned to encourage the same deduction (but not in the letter) are: the John Lewis demand for tremendous government spending to support existing wage scales, the auto workers demand for legislation to permit government supervision of the auto industry, the prospect that many more class one railroads will go into bankruptcy during the year even with a rate increase, the request of the small business men for direct government credit.

While these matters add up to a stupendous amount of evidence of something, most political authorities within and without the administration doubt that the correct answer will turn out to be state socialism. convinces them is that many of the prospects will probably not be realized. The move to purchase the utilities and anthracite mines apparently had more political backing than revolutionary intent, and the White House definitely backed away. The Lewis demand for 3 to 8 billions of government spending seems to have been inspired by convention enthusiasm at the gathering of his clan here. There is hardly a chance that congrss would adopt the auto workers' request, which apparently was a threat designed to help labor in negotiations. The plan for credit to small business may or may not develop. But the railroad bankruptcies are a real live prospect which may reasonably lead to government ownership eventually. However good inside judges know Roosevelt does not want them.

If state socialism is a live threat, congressional and most other outside authorities are not yet alive to the danger and doubt that it will soon be imminent.

NOTE — Some extreme southpaws, particularly in the wild and flea-bitten TVA organization, are apparently state socialists. Others of the same pink hue are scattered around the government, but after what happened to recent efforts of government in business (the Hightstown New Jersey folly disclosed in a current weekly magazine is the latest prize example) most of the pinks have turned blue.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge now has the reputation in the senate of being the only Republican to worry Mr. Roosevelt. Much heavy inside fixing was necessary before the administration got the 2 vote majority necessary to put through the Housing bill, without Lodge's prevailing wage amendment.

Housing authorities have their fingers crossed on the question of how much housing will be promoted, and when. First development will be a strong campaign, probably centering in advertising through local newspapers, to promote housing loans through local banks.

There is no "secret agreement" between the U. S. and Britain. There will be none. This seems definite.

Administration denials are not convincing proof, of course, because officials may have mental reservations as to what constitutes an "agreement." However, a rather complete investigation of the inside of the Anglo-American situation has recently been completed by an authority hostile to the administration. This trustworthy authority is convinced the Anglo-American situation stands like this:

Since the London conference, naval authorities in London and Washington have been constantly exchanging detailed information. Apparently also, State Secretary Hull and Foreign Minister Eden both generally know what the other is going to say before it is said.

But this inter-change of information does not specifically include any understanding as to what will be done next by either party (for example no agreement that the Yanks will guard the Pacific and the British the Atlantic.)

Both the British and the American authorities involved are said to be scared of the very word "agreement" in their information dealings. The British are afraid of the effect upon their diplomatic relations on the continent and the Americans are afraid of domestic reaction here, particularly in the senate.

What Senators Hiram Johnson and Borah were driving at in the senate the other day was the suspicious waltzing-in-time between Britannia and Uncle Sam. They had no evidence beyond the obvious suspicious. If they knew anything more, they would have said much more. They just want the world to know the senate will never stand for this waltzing business developing into a big apple.
